ASKS $5000, WITH DYNAMITE THREAT; MAN IS ARRESTED

Wabash Railroad Manager Corresponded With Blackmailer by Newspaper Want Ads.

50 MEN PATROL TRACKS TO PREVENT TRAIN WRECK

Letter Writer, Whose Confederate Is Believed to Be Prisoner Taken at Postoffice, Said He Was Prepared to Blow Up Railroad Track.

An elaborate plan for wrecking passenger trains between St. Louis and Edwardsville, Ill., and the destruction of property on a large scale, was outlined in the letters sent to officials of the Wabash Railroad, demanding $5000 and threatening to explode several mines on the right of way if the money were not forthcoming.

This scheme, which the police believe was only a "bluff," was told in detail in the letters and the writer offered to give proof by destroying a "wild cat" engine. He also agreed, if the money were sent as demanded, to furnish a plat showing the location of the mines.

Since the arrest of Robert Lester Hayes, 27 years old, when he called at the postoffice for a letter sent by Vice-President and General Manager Miller of the Wabash Railroad, as a decoy in response to a demand for $5000, coupled with a threat to dynamite trains if the money were not forthcoming, it has been learned that a correspondence was carried on with the letter-writer by means of personal advertisements inserted in newspapers.

This advertisement was published in the Post-Dispatch June 16:

PERSONAL—J. A. C.: Have mailed check; positively no trouble. W. R.

The letters demanding money were addressed to "G. P. A., Wabash Railroad." The writer said there were five men in the plot and that the arrest of any one who called for a letter at the Postoffice or who cashed any check that might be sent would result in the mines that had been placed under Wabash tracks being exploded at such a time as would wreck trains and cause great loss of life.

Hayes was arrested at the Postoffice Thursday afternoon. He has been stopping at the Globe Hotel under the name of Robert L. Haggard. He said a man he met at the hotel gave him a dime to go to the Postoffice for a letter. But samples of his own writing, found in his room by the police, tally with the letters sent to the railroad, it is asserted by detectives who worked on the case.

Hayes says he came to St. Louis from Cincinnati recently to look for work. The police found letters he had received in Cincinnati urging him to come here, and they are looking for the writer.

Writer Had Confederate.

A postal received at the Wabash offices Friday said that the wrong man had been arrested. This has convinced the police that the letter writer had a confederate.

For three weeks General Manager Miller of the Wabash has been receiving threatening letters. He sought the assistance of Chief of Police Creecy and Chief of Detectives Smith in capturing the author of the letters.

The official statement given out by the railroad Friday, is as follows:

An anonymous letter of a threatening character was received, and, while no credence was given, the matter was reported to the police, and ordinary prudence justified patrolling the territory in the vicinity of St. Louis last night, and taking every precaution to insure safety.

Fifty men with lanterns walked up and down the tracks all night, and the crews on all trains were instructed to run at half speed between the two points and keep a sharp lookout.

According to the letters, Thursday was the last day of grace that would be allowed the officials of the road. Unless the money was paid, the letters, which were signed "J. A. C.," stated that the tracks would be blown up.

One of the letters read:

ST. LOUIS, Mo, June 11, 1909.

Wabash R. R.:

Now have two days in which to make the requirement of J. C. B., and remember this: Just as sure as there is no answer in by Sunday, one if not more, of your trains will make a flying jump into a ditch before you can realize that I mean business.

I also advise you not to make this public, as it will only hasten disaster. The R. R. Service has put me to the bad. To tell how is a long story, and they are going to pay me or spend one hundred times as much to remedy damage I can do. It is an old and true saying that an ounce of preventation is worth a pound of cure.

Isn't it better to give $5000 than to lose $100,000? We are thoroughly organized and have no fear of results, and no man in our club knows the other.

If you should meet the sum named you need fear no further annoyances, as we shall all leave the country.

Pays $5000 or $1000,000, it's up to you. We mean business and will stop at nothing. If you answer through——— I will then give directions for closing the deal. Also, should I be arrested, as I expect to be, this will not save you, and you can do nothing then to avert a train wreck.

We need money and must have it, and all of us (five in number) have sworn to sacrifice ourselves, if necessary, to bring results to those who are left. I am averse to taking innocent lives, but in the event of the Wabash Railroad not meeting our demands, we have no alternative; $5000 is our price, no more, no less. If we must proceed and destroy a train, a notice shall be sent to one of the leading newspapers a copy of the letter I have sent you showing that the company could have averted the wreck. Damage suits will then accomplish our purpose as four of us will be on the train when wrecked. We fear neither God, man nor the devil and death has no terrors for any member of this club.

I will give your company a chance to save its property and the lives of its passengers, and I shall tell the exact date of the wreck, but you can only save by paying. Now, start your bloodhounds of detectives, and see who will win. We will.

Life and Death Club.

Wabash Railroad G. P. A.

I saw your answer in the Post-Dispatch and have only put off writing until our plans have been fully attended to. Now here is our terms.

You are to send a certified check on the Wabash Railroad to Arthur E. Macklin, general delivery, St. Louis, Mo., and do not think we are entirely green, as in asking for a check we are safer than other ways. We know your ad was only a bait to draw us on.

We are willing to be drawn, but any false move on your part will result disastrously to yourselves. We must cash check and divide money before you are entirely safe from danger. When this is done we will mail you a receipt and a location of where to find each mine. I do not remember that I explained how we are situated.

We have four mines at different points on your line, each with 20 pounds of dynamite, all wired and ready for business. Three of these are constantly watched by one of us five. Two men are in this city and one is always shadowing the other.

Should the man who calls at Postoffice and cashes check be arrested while doing either or afterward until we mail you plan of mine, the shadow wires to those at mines, and they explode mines under train and take the risk of getting their money from unfortunate passengers.

We have been some time in getting everything ready and are now thoroughly prepared to fight to a finish. If you wish a proof of our stand, send a wildcat engine, and first make time of starting known to us by Tuesday's Post-Dispatch, in any direction, we will send her in the air, just to convince you we are in earnest.

If you would protect your passengers and property, send certified check for the amount named and put in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch the following:

J. C. A. Have mailed check. Positively no trouble.

You are not to notify any official, either United States Government, city, State or county, or any R. R. detectives or detectives of any kind. You are just to put certified check in an envelope and send to P. O., and should any bank or trust company known to you to verify

Snapshot Made in Courtroom, Showing Principals in Bitter Separation Suit and Their Attorneys

ON the left, and seated, is Mrs. Howard Gould; beside her is her counsel, Clarence J. Shearn; standing, in the center, is Delancey Nicoll, counsel for Howard Gould, who is seated on the right. The hostility of the lawyers to each other has grown more intense with each day.

FORTNER WINS FIRST POINT IN COURT

Judge Holds He Cannot Be Returned Under Existing Treaty—Charge May Be Changed.

PARIS, June 18.—Marion Dwight Fortner of St. Louis, arrested here on a charge of forgery in connection with real estate operations, won a point today in his fight against being extradited, when the Court decided that under existing treaties Fortner could not be extradited for the offense charged against him.

The charges against Fortner may be changed to bring it within the provision of the extradition clause of the treaty. Fortner will probably be kept in jail until these changes are officially made.

Fortner was represented in court by Charles H. Beach, an American lawyer, and Henry Signitz. Detective McMullen of St. Louis is here to take Fortner back.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Ferriss said Friday that no information indicating a hitch in the extradition of Fortner has been received at the Four Courts.

"This office can take no action until it receives official advices," he said.

"I am inclined to think the statement that Fortner cannot be extradited is unfounded. The United States and French authorities in Washington went over the ground thoroughly, and decided that he could be brought back."

FREE BEER, FREE ICE 'THREATENED' PEOPLE OF ALTON

A coolness between the ice manufacturers of East Alton and the brewers of Alton has reached the point of open hostility and there is a prospect that everybody who buys ice will get free beer and everybody who buys beer will get free ice. This has suggested novel deals in high finance and the East Altonites are awaiting with great eagerness the firing of the first gun.

The only thing which will keep the speculative citizens of the town from becoming millionaires is that ice melts and beer doesn't.

Until recently East Alton had an abundance of rubber plants and pieplants, but no ice plant. To meet the deficiency the brewers and brewers' agents of Alton furnished ice free to their customers, owners of the five saloons of East Alton.

Now the Wickenhauser Bros. are manufacturing ice in the town and they have asked the brewers to cut ice off the free list as a protection to home industry.

"We won't do it," say the brewers.

"O, very well," say the Wikenhausers, "then we'll establish a brewery agency here and give away beer to everybody that buys our ice."

The saloon keepers are taking a hand in the fight. They say that if the Wickenhausers attempt to start any more saloons in the town they will give ice o every retail customer—a nickel's worth of ice with two 10-cent bottles of beer.

Under this system a customer could drink his beer in an anti-brewery saloon, then take his free ice to an anti-Wickenhauser saloon and trade it for more beer. This could be kept up indefinitely—or, at least, until the ice melted.

WARMER WEATHER UNDER CLOUDY SKIES IS THE PROMISE FOR TODAY

"The missus swears," the servants say; "the missus drinks a quart a day." Wherefore, the husband says, of course, the Court should grant him a divorce.

"But no," the Judge declares, "a wife who drinks must lead a grievous life. She needs a husband's loving care." So where do we get off, O, where?

The official forecast: Partly cloudy weather Friday night and Saturday; warmer tonight; easterly winds, shifting to southerly.

The river is at 25.3, a rise of .2, and will continue to rise.

The Weather Bureau stated today that the Mississippi would reach the mark of 27½ feet by next Tuesday, which is 2½ feet from the danger line.

Missouri—Partly cloudy, with probably showers in west portion tonight or Saturday; warmer tonight.

Illinois—Fair and warmer tonight; Saturday, partly cloudy and warmer.

PARK CONCERTS TONIGHT.

The Park concerts tonight will be in Benton and Mullanphy parks. Weil's band will play in Mullanphy Park, 1525 North Tenth street, and the Industrial School band in Benton Park, Jefferson avenue and Arsenal street.

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

MRS. GOULD OFTEN DRUNK, FORMER VALET TESTIFIES

Man Swears She Kicked Off Slippers When He Stooped to Tie Them and Drank Ice Water Liberally Morning After Drinking Bout.

By Leased Wire From New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The first witness to be called by the defense today at the beginning of the seventh day of Katherine Clemmons Gould's separation suit against Howard Gould in the Supreme Court, was Harry J. Veitch of Des Moines, Ia.

He said he now owned an interest in the Kirkwood Hotel there, but was formerly a valet to Mrs. Gould. This was ten months in 1905 and 1906, and he accompanied his employer about the country, being sometimes at the St. Regis, sometimes at Castle Gould and in Virginia, the West Indies and Europe.

"My duties were to look after her baggage and tend to any errands she might want covered," said Veitch. "I helped her with her toilet only once. I often saw her intoxicated."

Smashed Dishes on Order.

"Soon after I went to work for her in December, 1905, she had a meal served in her room at the St. Regis. She had some drinks, and because the waiter did not come promptly she ordered me to throw the table out into the corridor. I obeyed her, smashing some of the dishes and damaging the table. The manager came up to investigate, but he did not see Mrs. Gould.

"On the trip of the Gould yacht Niagara that winter I often saw Mrs. Gould indulge in liquor. I sometimes served her. She generally took Manhattan cocktails. She used a good deal of liquor on that trip.

"At Castle Gould in the summer of 1906 I saw Mrs. Gould drunk three times. One time she drank champagne cocktails all day. Then she sent for the coach to take her around the estate, saying she was going to 'fire everybody on the place.' She sent for two more cocktails before she got into the coach, although she was already staggering.

Kicked Slippers Into Air.

"She told me to tie her slippers and as I stooped to tie them she kicked them off in the air. That evening I passed her room and the door was open. She was lying on the bed dressed, with her clothing up to her knees and her hair all mussed up and she was snoring. Next morning she sat around and drank a lot of ice water."

"Twice after that, in August, I saw her drunk. Once Malloy, the manager, came to the house to see about some linen for the yacht. She sent him word that she 'did not care a damn' about the linen, and for him to get off the place. Another time I heard her order Mr. Gould's valet off the place when the valet had come for Mr. Gould's clothes.

Drank Bottles of Cocktails.

"She had been drinking hard all that day and was very loud and boisterous. Her face was red and flushed. I was with Mrs. Gould at the Blue Gap farm, in Virginia, for three weeks, in the fall of 1906. While she was there she drank almost constantly. In two days I served her personally with two quarts of Manhattan cocktails, in addition to the wines and liquors which she took with her meals."

On cross-examination, Mr. Shearn asked: "Didn't Mrs. Gould discharge you, charging you with stealing jewelry and ornaments?"

"She did not—I resigned. She never accused me of anything dishonest."

While Veitch testified Mrs. Gould kept up her favorite tricks of trying to stare the witness into embarrassment and then throwing her head back with a theatrical gesture of derision and smiling sarcastically whenever Veitch told some new dtail of her alleged intoxication.

Another Friend Called.

Henry Knowles of 53 West Thirty-third street, an elderly insurance man, came next to the witness stand. He first met the Goulds at a dinner in 1904, and subsequently visited them at the St. Regis and at Castle Gould, and had seen the couple at Paris in March, 1906. He had been entertained aboard the yacht Niagara. Mr. Knowles was the second friend of the Goulds to testify for the husband, all the other witnesses having been, with the exception of Broker Chapman, either servants or work people.

"I have often observed the effect of liquor upon Mrs. Gould," he said. "The first time was when my wife and I were dining with the Goulds at the St. Regis. She drank and then her manner changed for the worse. When she was herself, she was a very charming and affable woman, almost fascinating, in fact, but when she drank she became irritated, especially toward her husband, nagging him and saying sarcastic things."

During the four-day auto trip which he took with the Goulds and some other guests, in 1906, across the continent from Paris, Mr. Knowles said Mrs. Gould drank. He and Mrs. Gould and Lloyd Royalton occupied the first car. Mr. Gould was in the second car with the others.

Found Fault With the Salad.

All during the trip Mrs. Gould was continually complaining of arrangements which her husband had made, and she would mortify him before us all by slighting remarks and observations," went on Mr. Knowles. "Once she gave him a sound scolding because a courier did not meet us at a certain point.

"I was at Castle Gould in July, 1906, following a yachting trip in the Niagara. After the luncheon, and again after dinner Mrs. Gould, having drank wine, would be very disagreeable. I recall that she didn't like the way the lettuce in the salad was headed, and she said it was all Howard's fault for having such a 'damn fool' gardener. She also complained of Mallory, the manager, although she had spoken highly of Mallory to me in Europe. She kept complaining about the salad until Mr. Gould left the table without finishing his meal."

Under cross-examination Mr. Knowles said he had not been subpenaed as a witness.

"Did you ever before volunteer to testify against a woman who had been your hostess?" demanded Shearn.

"That question is improper," said Justice Dowling, and Mr. Knowles did not answer it. He lived, he said, at the Hotel Martinique, where Howard Gould also had lodgings. Mr. Knowles was formerly with the Equitable Insurance Co. Mr. Shearn was not allowed to find out why Mr. Knowles stayed

MATSON, DRIVING A CHALMERS-DETROIT, WINS AUTO TROPHY

Robertson in a Locomobile Takes Second Place, With Monson in a Marion Third.

LEADER GOES 232 MILES IN 4 HOURS, 31 MINUTES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CROWN POINT, Ind., June 18.—Joseph Matson, known in auto racing circles as the "Durable Dane," won the first "Western Vanderbilt" automobile race over the 232.74-mile course for the Indiana trophy this afternoon.

His Chalmers-Detroit car, the "Blue Bird," flashed in front of the grandstand at the end of the tenth lap of the race an easy winner. One hundred thousand persons cheered the driver as he sped over the line.

Matson went the 232.74 miles in 4 hours, 31 minutes and 21 seconds, an average of 52.2 miles an hour. Robertson's time was 4:39:03 and Monson's was 4:42:03.

Matson, who is famed for his fearlessness and was recognized as a strong contender when the race officials made him the last starter, his number being 19 in the original list. Before the third lap had been covered Matson's car had swung around at such a clip that he was even then leading in elapsed time and he was greeted with shouts of encouragement as he scudded past the starting point going into the fourth lap. He smiled and waved his hand and was gone over the rise in a cloud of smoke and dust.

Two accidents marred the race. Two cars were crippled thereby, but the drivers escaped serious injury.

With the race nearly half over, Maisonville had lost two laps with his Corbin; Chevrolet, a Buick pilot, was a lap shy, and Strang, another Buick pilot, was forced to drop out after the first lap with a bent axle and a broken transmission. Ruehl, in the Fal-Car, had not completed the first lap, while Wright, in a Stoddard-Dayton, had made but two laps.

Robertson, whose Locomobile started in ninth position at the beginning of the race, steadily crept up in position. In the second lap he was sixth, in the third lap fifth, in the fourth third, and in the fifth he was second. He stopped for oil, however, and was passed by Matson. The big Easterner made remarkably swift time getting his gasoline and lubricant and was away after the Chalmers-Detroit man.

Burman, in his Buick, was disqualified for borrowing a valve.

Stutz, who was making a wonderful race in Marion, blew a cylinder head at the outset of the eighth lap. His car ran into a shallow ditch. He was scratched and bruised, but his machinist escaped injury. The car was withdrawn from the race.

The withdrawal of the Ford yesterday was followed today by that of "Art" Greiner's Renault. It was hoped to the last that the Renault's broken transmission, which kept it from weighing in yesterday, could be repaired. Early today, however, Greiner surrendered.

Today's race was over 10 laps, approximately 23.6 miles each, or a total distance of 232.74 miles, for the Indiana trophy. The specifications limited entrants to light cars. Tomorrow 12 big cars will contest for the Cobe Cup, the big event of the meet.

The machines were started by Fred W. Wagner, who officiated in a similar capacity in all the Vanderbilt runs on Long Island. Asa Paine of Minneapolis acted as referee.

Straightaway of 1.4 Miles.

Leaving the grand stand the machines flashed away over a straightaway north of 1.4 miles, where a sharp turn brought them into one of the principal residence streets of Crown Point for a spurt of .7 of a mile.

At the end of the stretch they turned to the northwest for an irregular run of 4 miles to Cedar Lake. On this leg there are three sharp corners and three easy ones, including the picturesque "S." At Cedar Lake there begins a straightaway of 5.7 miles. The road is rolling, but the grade is gradually descending all the way to Lowell.

At Lowell, after passing under a viaduct, the road takes a sharp turn to the east. Half a mile out it turns sharply around a cemetery and then there is a straightaway for three miles. Turning north again, there is a straightaway of 7.1 miles, which brings the cars past the grandstand.

All night long crowds poured into the town until it appeared there was room for no more, but still the invasion continued. The First Regiment of Chicago formed the vanguard. The militiamen arrived last night and marched through the town to the grandstand, where they pitched their shelter tents.

Special trains from Chicago began to arrive at 2 a. m and continued almost to the moment of the race, bringing thousands into Crown Point and Lowell.

Sleep in Tonneaus.

Many women spent the night in the tonneau of their cars or in hastily improvised camps. One farsighted car owner carried a cot in his car and unlimbered it behind his machine when the time came to use it. The night was chilly and even the soldiers complained that their blankets were too thin. Many scorned sleep and spent the night riding about the town or over the course.

Shortly after daybreak the task of distributing the soldiers of the First Illinois Regiment among the 41 military posts began. Packed in auto trucks like sardines, the soldiers, clinging to the sides or swaying in the middle, hurried away from the grandstand to their respective stations.

They were followed by the operators assigned to nine telegraph stations along the course from which intelligence of the progress of the race was to be flashed to the judges at the starting point.

Burman, in a Buick car, started a minute after Maisonville, Monson, Florida, Chevrolet, Pearce, Robertson and Wells followed a minute apart each.

Stutz, in a Marion car, followed Burman. Owing to the withdrawal of the Ford entry, a two-minute interval elapsed before Knappers was sent away in the Chalmers-Detroit.

The Renault, being withdrawn, there was another two-minute interval and then Ruehl, Wiseman, Poole, Wright and Matson were sent on their way.

First Lap.

Burman, in his Buick, led at the end of the first laps. He passed Maisonville in the Corbin car on the straightaway outside of Lowell. Maisonville, running like a top, made the lap in 26m. 2s. Knipper, in his Chalmers-Detroit, overtook Stutz and made the lap in 26m. 55s. Stutz took 29m. 34s. Monsen, in a Marion, made the lap in 27m. 29s. Florida, in the Locomobile, came next and was clocked at 29m. 55s. Pearce and his Fal-Car came in only a few feet ahead of Strang in a Buick.

Strang was shaking his fist at the car ahead, apparently trying to indicate that the man ahead would not give him room to pass. Strang had to pass Robertson, winner of last year's Vanderbilt and driving a car of the same make this year. Wells, in the Moon, and his own teammate, Chevrolet, to gain this position.

Pearce's time was 28m. 32s. Robertson's 27m. 58s, Wells' 28m. and Chevrolet's 31m. Strang's time was 36m. 25s. Chevrolet stopped to take water for his radiator, accounting for his comparatively slow time. Poole, in a Chalmers-Detroit, made 28m. 44s, and Wiseman, in a Stoddard-Dayton, 27m. 38s.

SECOND LAP.

Strang, in Buick 14, who made sensational time on the first lap, was announced out of the race. He stripped a rear axle at Lowell. Strang was not hurt.

Burman made the second lap still in the lead in 26:05. The judges made repeated mistakes in accounting [illegible] of the laps, creating some laughter and many groans.

Then came, in order, Poole, Monsen, Knipper, Chevrolet, [illegible]son, Wells, Wiseman, Stutz, Florida. Burman had four minutes the advantage of Poole, his time for the two rounds being 49:36.

THIRD LAP.

At the end of the third lap the three

JUDGE RIDICULES VERDICT AGAINST STREET RAILWAY

Sets It Aside and Calls Juries Too Generous With Cash of Corporations.

Judge Sale, in the Circuit Court Friday, set aside the verdicts of two juries which had assessed damages against the United Railways Co. He granted new trials, and commented sarcastically on the juries which had found in favor of a boy and a girl who were injured in street car accidents.

One of the cases was that of Miss Eva. F. Ridlen who was on the Creve Couer Lake car which left the rails and turned over at a dangerous curve near Delmar Garden June 17, 1908.

Miss Ridlen alleged nervous shock.

"I take it," said the Judge in ordering a new trial, "that nervous shock is a necessary concomitant of a railway accident. Naturally the young woman's nerves were shocked, but I could see no sign of it.

"I observed her closely when she was in court. She disported herself with her companions as any young woman might do.

"We have had a lot of generous jurors here lately who were not averse to giving away large sums of money on slight provocation.

"The verdict of $2000 in this case was double what it should have been. Even $1000 would be considered excessive if the defendant were an individual instead of a corporation."

Joseph Sterneck, 12 years old, fell from a Broadway car in June, 1908, and was ruptured. A jury awarded him $2800.

"That verdict was grossly excessive," said Judge Sale. "I scrutinized the boy in court, and I think the verdict was twice as large as it ought to be. It is an illustration of the ease with which the average juror takes money from one person and gives it to another, especially where the defendant is an artificial 'person.'

"In both of these cases I have entirely ignored the testimony of medical experts."

PAPER NOT ON FREE LIST

Senate Defeats Brown's Amendment to Bill, 29 to 52.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Senate today voted down Senator Brown's amendment to place print paper on the free list of the tariff bill—29 to 52.

Senator Lorimer voted against the amendment.

HER PHYSICIAN ADVISED

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during severe female troubles. My doctor told me it was good, and since taking it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all woman's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."—Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.

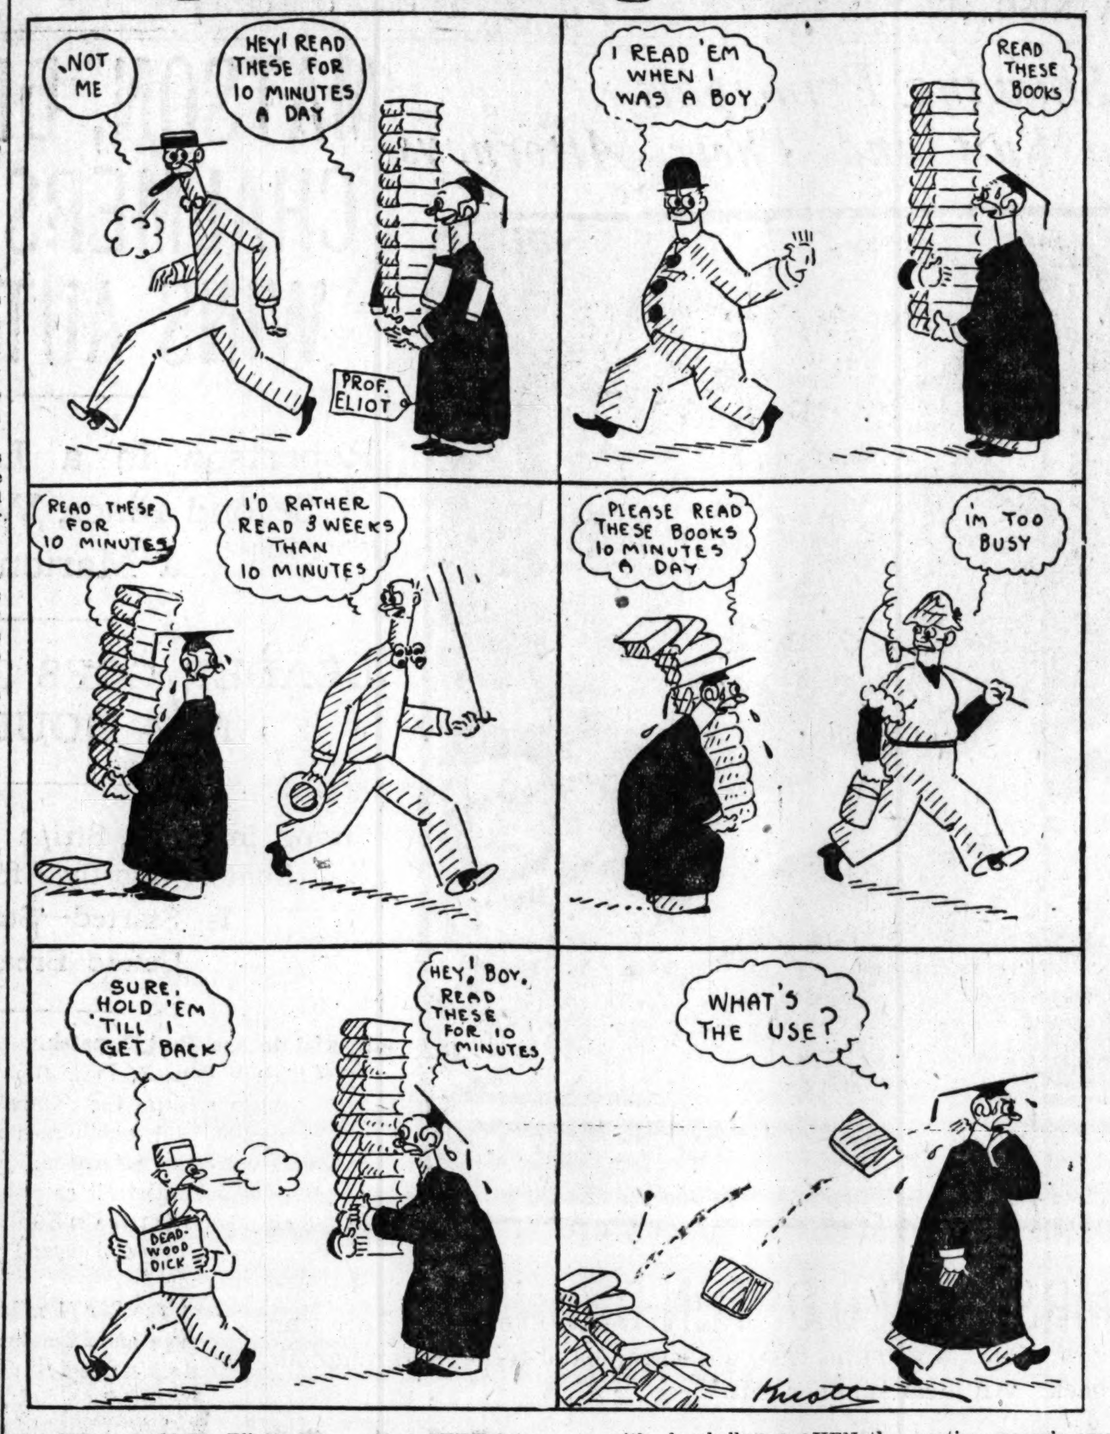

Graniteville, Vt.—"I suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—Mrs. Charles Barclay, R. F. D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who experience these troubles or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dr. Eliot's Literature Not Popular During the Summer

NOW good old Dr. Eliot
Would educate us all
And fix us so we'll be real smart—
But he'll have to wait till fall.

WE'RE busy now with baseball guides
And manuals of golf;
We think that "five-foot" learning's fine,
But we'll have to put it off.

WHEN the sporting season's over
We may put away our "guides"
Some time about the chill and drear
And bleak November Ides.

abroad during the Armstrong investigation.

"Do you know Inspector McLaughlin?" asked Shearn.

"Very well," was the answer.

"Did you invite Mrs. Gould to dine with you and Mrs. Knowles and Inspector McLaughlin in August, 1907?"

The question was ruled out.

Mr. Shearn inquired deeply into the auto tour through Europe and brought out that the missing courier had the tickets for a box at a costume ball at Nice. Mr. Knowles was dressed as Trilby at the time and Howard Gould as Cupid. The cross-examination continued:

"Were you friendly with Mrs. Gould?"

"So far as I know I am."

"Didn't she once quarrel with you regarding the way you addressed your wife and say that if it occurred again you could never come to her house?"

Nagged Husband Constantly.

"Not at all. I once gave Mrs. Gould a very plain talking to, but we never had a quarrel about my wife or any other subject."

On redirect examination Mr. Nicoll asked Mr. Knowles to describe more particularly Mrs. Gould's treatment of her husband during an auto trip in Maine.

"Well," said Mr. Knowles, "I can only say she nagged at her husband constantly. If an auto broke down it was Howard's fault, if the weather was bad, Howard was to blame for that, too. Everything was his fault, that was her general attitude."

The next witness, Leon Leheroux, of 221 West Thirty-eighth street, a little French chauffeur, required the aid of an interpreter. He said he drove Mrs. Gould's car for her in 1906, remaining with her until he got into an accident. She discharged him in September, he said, because she no longer needed his services.

Mr. Nicoll undertook to show that the Frenchman had piloted Mrs. Gould around New England when she was meeting Dustin Farnum.

"There's a Reason"

JURY DISOBEYS JUDGE'S ORDERS LOCKED IN 7 DAYS

Determined to Render Verdict Favoring Woman in $10,000 Damage Suit.

Rather than obey the court's instructions, a jury of 12 Jefferson County farmers and glassworkers remained virtually prisoners for seven days. Then, still refusing to render such a verdict as was peremptorily ordered by Circuit Judge Joseph Williams, the jury was dismissed.

The case on trial in the Circuit Court at Hillsboro was the damage suit of Mrs. Jennie Bundy of Festus against the town of Festus and Augusta and Robert Backus. She was injured by a fall on the sidewalk in front of the Backus premises, and osteomyolitis, or inflamation of one of the bones in her right leg, resulted. She sued the town and the Backuses jointly, for $10,000.

Orders Verdict for Festus.

R. A. Frazier of Hillsboro, and George Safford of St. Louis were her lawyers.

After the evidence was in, Judge Williams ordered the jury to find a verdict in favor of the town of Festus. He gave no instruction as to the jury's course in regard to the Backuses.

The jury was divided, 8 to 4, on the question of giving a judgment against the Backuses, but all 12 members were in favor of giving a verdict against the town. They refused to render a verdict in favor of the town, and the Judge kept them three days, then adjourned court.

That was two weeks ago. Last Monday morning court opened again, and the jurors were recalled and put into the juryroom again. There they remained until Thursday afternoon, when the Judge discharged them.

The case will have a new trial, and a change of venue is possible.

CHARGED WITH AMBUSH MURDER

W. C. Ferrell Denies Shooting William Moore.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 18.—W. C. Ferrell was arrested today and charged with the murder of William Moore, who was shot from ambush in Calloway County, five miles from this city, yesterday.

The evidence against him is circumstantial and he protested his innocence strongly.

LORIMER SWORN IN AS SENATOR

WASHINGTON, June 18.—William Lorimer of Illinois took the oath of office and became a United States Senator today.

Although elected several weeks ago, he retained his seat in the House of Representatives until satisfied that he could render better service in the Senate. It is expected he will join the progressive senators.

MANY CASES OF PARALYSIS ARE CURABLE

This Kansas City Man Gives the Tonic Treatment Entire Credit for his Recovery.

There are still people who say that no form of partial paralysis can be cured.

If you have partial paralysis or some other severe nervous disorder, do you think it is better to be treated by someone who insists that you are incurable, or to take a treatment that grateful patients throughout the United States testify has cured them?

Mr. J. B. Stinson, of No. 1740 Madison avenue, Kansas City, Mo., says:

"In November, 1903, I was taken sick with severe pains through my chest and in the region of my heart. One morning, while working in the field, I was taken with worse pains than ever and before I could get back to the house, my legs seemed to be paralyzed and I could just hobble along and had to be helped up the steps. I was in bed for over two years and so helpless that I had to be turned over. I was completely paralyzed from just below my heart down. I had not a particle of feeling in this part of my body. I wasted away until I was just skin and bones. My appetite was good. My kidneys were affected and I had no control over them. During the time I was in bed I was perfectly helpless.

"I was living at Lees Summit, Mo., during my sickness and was treated by two doctors. Both said that my case was paralysis. Their medicine did not help me and they said I could not live. I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After awhile I began to have some control of my kidneys and bowels. I was finally able to get around in a wheel chair and kept improving until I was able to walk with a cane. Like a child, I had to learn to walk again. I can walk now without any effort and no one would ever know what my condition had been. I feel as well as I ever did before the stroke, with one exception. I am not strong enough to do heavy work or lifting."

The tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood so that it can nourish and strengthen the weakened nervous system has made hundreds of cures in the most severe nervous disorders.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SEAMAN INJURED BY RUSSIAN SHOT IS RECOVERING RAPIDLY

Russian Torpedo Boat Fired Three Blanks and Then Four Projectiles.

STOCKHOLM, June 18.—Coyne, the fireman on the British steamer Woodburn of Newcastle, that was fired upon at Pitkipas Bay Wednesday night by a vessel of the Russian squadron, patrolling the rendezvous of Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William, sustained only slight injuries and probably will be able to leave the hospital in a few days. He declares that three other members of the crew sustained slight injuries.

Further details show that the Woodburn strayed during the night within the prohibited zone of navigation. The Russian torpedo boat first fired three blank shots, which were followed by four projectiles.

According to one version of the incident, the Woodburn was being escorted by a torpedo boat and had a Russian pilot on board when she was fired upon.

DEATH OF FRAIL BABY GIRL DRIVES THE FATHER INSANE

He Has Devoted His Life to Child Since the Mother Died a Year Ago.

The loss of his baby girl unbalanced Robinson Merman's mind. Mrs. Merman had given her life for the child, and when, after a year's brave battle for life, it followed its mother, Merman's brain gave way under the strain of the double bereavement.

Merman, an accountant, is under observation at the City Hospital. Since his wife died a year ago he has lived at 211 North Twelfth street, and those who knew him there declare that his whole life seemed centered in the sickly child, Mary. He spent all his time out of working hours in attendance on the baby, and when it died two months ago he seemed inconsolable.

Policemen of the Central District picked Merman up Thursday night at Twelfth and Chestnut streets. He was walking rapidly along the street, muttering to himself that medical students had exhumed the child's body, and that he must recover it.

His actions were so queer and his face so wild that passersby shrank from him, and one asked a policeman to see what the matter was.

Merman is 28 years old.

HAD SALT RHEUM FOR FOUR YEARS

Began Like a Ringworm on Hand —Though Treated, Washing Irritated It and It Spread Over Arm and Face—Kept Growing Worse.

CURED TWO YEARS AGO BY CUTICURA

"A little over six years ago I had a sore come on my hand. I consulted a doctor. He told me it was a ringworm. It kept on getting worse so I went to another doctor. He called it salt rheum. I kept on taking his treatment for some time but every washday my hand would break out and be worse. It continued to spread till it got over my whole hand and up my arm, also on my face. I suffered with the disease about four years when a friend of mine told me to try Cuticura. I got two cakes of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura Ointment and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent. When I had used them up, I was cured and I haven't seen the least sign of the humor since. Mrs. Linda Winslow, Wyalusing, Penn., July 13, 1908."

FACE BADLY BRUISED

And Cut by Fall. Now Healed without a Scar by Use of Cuticura.

"On January 31 I fell from a wagon, landing on my face and head against the curb and gutter. I was about the worst looking person that ever had a face. After about two hours' careful washing I got the blood stopped and the dirt off and my face pretty well covered with Cuticura Ointment. You may know that I was pretty well skinned up by the fact that both lips were cut inside and out and the skin on my nose and both cheek bones cut. Part of my face was healed over in a week and the scales came off and while the cheek is still sore there are no marks to prove that I was ever scratched. I would also say that I use the Cuticura Soap for shaving and my face is always soft. W. H. Dean, Newark, Del., February 24, 1908."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. Mailed Free, Cuticura Book on Skin Diseases.

BOY GETS $3.50 IN PAYMENT FOR BOGUS MESSAGES

Youth Poses as Telegraph Messenger and Delivers "Collect" Telegrams.

OPERATES IN WEST END

Picks Out Prominent Persons Who Receive Alarming News From Strangers.

Harry Grant, a soldier of fortune at the age of 17, carried disquiet into many West End homes before his scheme to get rich quick by collecting charges on bogus telegrams was nipped in the bud by a policeman early Friday.

All of the messages which he delivered told of sudden and tragic deaths.

At the Newstead Avenue Station the boy broke down and confessed that he had written the telegrams.

"I was trying to get money to buy clothes," he said.

It was at first thought that Harry was a girl, disguised as a boy. He says that he has played girl parts in several melodramas, and that he appeared as a girl in Maude Adams' production of "Peter Pan."

Patrolman Tunis saw Harry with a bundle of telegrams and a receipts slip in his hand, at Sarah street and McPherson avenue, at 1:30 a. m.

The large number of telegrams which the boy carried excited the policeman's suspicion. He stopped Harry and examined the envelopes. On each was a memorandum of charges ranging from 75 cents to $1.

Fails to Collect.

The boy showed no signs of nervousness.

"I'm working for the telegraph company," he said. "If you don't believe me just come down to the office with me."

"All right," said Tunis. "I'll just make your rounds with you, to see that nobody molests you. It's pretty late for a boy to be out alone."

Tunis accompanied Harry to the home of Mrs. Henry Fritsch at 3949 Olive street. The boy handed a telegram to Mrs. Fritsch, and when she read it she was greatly agitated.

"There must be some awful mistake," she said, dropping the telegram.

The policeman picked it up and read: Chicago, June 17.—Dear Madam: Man killed here had on his person a letter written by you. Wire information at once. Doctor.

The charges were 75 cents, Harry said. Mrs. Fritsch refused to pay it.

Scheme Nets $3.50.

From the Fritsch home Harry and the policeman went to the residence of H. P. Smith at 4159 Olive steet. Smith was routed out of bed to read this message purporting to come from Pittsburg:

"Dear sir—Woman who committed suicide here had a letter from you. Wire instructions. CORONER."

Smith was mystified until the policeman took him aside and whispered an explanation.

The boy was arrested by Tunis and taken to the Newstead Station.

There he said he had delivered seven telegrams in the West End and had collected $3.50.

"I'd have had more," he said, "but some of the women wouldn't pay me after they had read the messages."

At first he denied that he wrote the telegrams, but later he said that he wanted to look for a job as bellboy, and he needed good clothes "to make an impression." He said that Thursday afternoon a man stopped him at Eighth and Olive streets and asked him for a match.

"I told the man I was broke and looking for a job," he said, "and he suggested that I could make easy money delivering fake telegrams. He gave me a lot of blanks and a receipt slip.

The police do not believe this story. They obtained from the boy a description of the man and the name of the hotel at which he was supposed to be staying, but could find no trace of him.

Harry says that he is a half-orphan, and that his mother, Mrs. Mary Ferris of Bowling Green, O., placed him in an orphan asylum when he was 11 years old.

Undelivered Messages Seized.

The undelivered telegrams which the boy had in his hand were addressed to John J. Behan, 5127 McPherson avenue; John Wallace, 4002 Olive street; Mrs. Charles D. Buehle, 2817 King's highway; P. Boeger, 6615 Olive street; Mrs. Anna Ramos, 1939 Wash street; J. L. McNichols, 4138 McPherson avenue; M. Meyer, 4261 Olive street, and Miss C. Youdell, 2900 Olive street.

A message to Dr. J. H. McLean bore no address.

All of these telegrams were worded the same:

"Man killed here had letter from you in his pocket. Wire instructions."

WEALTHY MAN'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER, HANDS MANACLED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 18.—The dead body of W. C. Bridges, wealthy lumberman and operator of a big plant at Waverly, Miss., was found late yesterday evening at the bottom of the Tombigbee River.

His hands were manacled with heavy wire cables and several large pieces of lead were tied to his clothing. His body was found by searchers dragging the stream for some trace of the missing man. Bridges had been missing since Monday and all trace of him had been lost. He was a widower and lived by himself near his lumber plant.

His hands were fastened behind him with the heavy cable, precluding all chance of suicide. His home had not been ransacked, and there was no indication of robbery having been the motive for the crime. Bridges had lived in the neighborhood for several years and was popular with the people.

Farmers Build Stands at Points on Course Where Wrecks Are Most Likely

"blue birds," representing the Chalmers-Detroit, were leading, with less than a minute separating them. Matson was leading, with Pool four seconds behind and Knipper 19 seconds behind Poole. The other drivers finished the lap in the following order: Chevrolet, Monsen, Wiseman, Robertson, Wells, Burman and Florida.

Matson's elapsed time was 1h. 20m. 24s. That he was in the lead had been signaled to him and he waved his hand in passing the judge's stand, in answer to applause and cheers.

FOURTH LAP.

The Detroit-Chalmers cars maintained their remarkable pace and were still leading at the end of the fourth lap, with but 15 seconds separating the three cars. Knipper regained the lead by covering the fourth lap in 25m. 40s., making his total time 1h. 46m. 27s. for the 93.09 miles covered. Matson was only 2 seconds behind and Poole followed the latter 13 seconds later. Monson, in elapsed time, finished fourth, and the others as follows:

Roberson, Wells, Wiseman, Florida and Stutz. Stutz was 16m. 23s. behind the leader.

FIFTH LAP.

The elapsed time of the actively contesting cars at the end of the fifth lap was as follows:

Marion (Stutz), 2h. 32m. 7s.
Marion (Monsen), 2h. 17m. 30s.
Locomobile (Florida), 2h. 27m. 10s.
Locomobile (Robertson), 2h. 19m. 49s.
Moon (Wells), 2h. 23m. 11s.
Stoddard-Dayton (Wise), 2h. 26m. 58s.
Chalmers-Detroit (Poole), 2h. 14m. 17s.
Chalmers-Detroit (Matson), 2h. 12m. 19s.

Knipper, who had been in the lead at the end of the fourth round, injured his car near Cedar Lake on the fifth lap thus breaking the unity of the previous performance of this machine. The Fal-Car, with Ruehl in the car, was not heard from after leaving the grand stand.

The three Buick cars ran afoul of hard luck. After Strang's mishap, which put him out of the running, Chevrolet dropped behind and after three hours of racing was three laps behind, apparently putting him out of the race. With this he made his way to the stand and retired his car to the parking space.

SIXTH LAP.

At the conclusion of the sixth lap Matson led by nearly seven minutes. Poole, his teammate, had some trouble and fell behind. Following is the elapsed time of the sixth lap:

Chalmers-Detroit (Matson), 2h. 38m. 45s.
Marion (Monsen), 2h. 45m. 26s.
Locomobile (Robertson), 2h. 48m. 25s.
Moon (Wells), 2h. 53m. 41s.
Stoddard-Dayton (Wiseman), 2h. 54m. 6s.
Locomobile (Florida), 2h. 56m. 16s.
Marion (Stutz), 3h. 1m. 44s.
Chalmers-Detroit (Poole), 3h. 4m. 12s.

SEVENTH LAP.

The elapsed time at the end of the seventh lap was:

Chalmers-Detroit (Matson), 3h. 05m. 50s.
Marion (Monson), 3h. 15m. 15s.
Locomobile (Robertson), 3h. 15m. 21s.
Stoddard-Dayton (Wiseman), 3h. 24m. 03s.
Moon (Wells), 3h. 24m. 26s.
Locomobile (Florida), 3h. 25m. 30s.
Marion (Stutz), 3h. 35m. 36s.

EIGHTH LAP.

The elapsed time at the end of the eighth lap:

Chalmers-Detroit (Matson), 3h. 36m. 21s.
Marion (Monson), 3h. 13m. 15s.
Locomobile (Robertson), 3h. 45m. 2s.
Moon (Wells), 3h. 53m. 51s.
Locomobile (Florida), 3h. 54m. 31s.
Stoddard-Dayton (Wiseman), 3h. 55m. 8s.

NINTH LAP.

Chalmers-Detroit (Matson), 4h. 4m. 22s.
Marion (Monsen), 4h. 11m. 44s.
Locomobile (Robertson) 4h. 12m. 22 1-5s.

A WHEAT-MEAT!

That sounds strange. But it's true. It refers to Faust Brand Spaghetti, the great American wheat food that has won thousands from the meat habit and added a staple article of food to vegetarian fare. A Wheat-Meat! Think of it! Imagine if you can a food as nourishing as meat—that requires less energy to digest—that is not heating—that never becomes tainted—that is so clean, so cheap and so adaptable for every-day cooking as to be beyond compare. Such a food is Faust Brand Spaghetti. Serve it in a new way every day—for dinner or supper. There'll be no regrets. Keep it always in the kitchen for a ready answer to that old question, "What to Cook."

BREWER'S WIFE FINED $100 FOR DEATH OF GIRL

Woman Accused of Murder Is Found Guilty of Battery at Third Trial.

FINE PROMPTLY PAID

Evidence Showed That Servant Was Beaten and Scalded Without Reason.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FLANDREAU, S. D., June 18.—Mrs. Emma Kaufman, accused of the murder of Agnes Poleris, a domestic, was found guilty of battery here today and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or to serve 50 days in jail. The fine was immediately paid.

The case had been in the courts for three years, and the trial just closed was the third one. The jury in the first trial disagreed. The second trial resulted in the conviction of Mrs. Kaufman of manslaughter in the second degree, but this was reversed.

The jury in the present trial brought in its verdict this morning, after being out all night.

Mrs. Kaufman, who is the wife of a well-known brewer of Sioux Falls, was accused of torturing the Polreis girl, her servant, to death. At the trial here about a year ago the details of the crime were developed.

Mrs. Kaufman's only daughter died 10 years before Miss Polreis entered her employ, and the sight of the fresh-lipped, rosy-cheeked domestic, it is said, put the woman so at war with Providence for taking away her child that she became a veritable maniac and took revenge on the Polreis girl for the loss of her child. After the girl's death 49 wounds were found on her body, inflicted, it is said, by her crazed mistress.

Poured Boiling Water on Girl.

On one occasion Miss Polreis was discovered unconscious on the floor of the kitchen, with Mrs. Kaufman pouring boiling water over her.

During the trial feeling against Mrs. Kaufman was so intense that a number of women banded together for the purpose of lynching her, but were restrained after considerable suasion by cooler heads.

Not until the day of her death was a physician called to attend Miss Polreis. This aroused suspicion, and soon after the funeral the body was exhumed, when the discovery of Mrs. Kaufman's maniacal brutality was made. Her arrest followed, after an examination conducted by the State officials.

Mother Prays for Vengeance.

A dramatic incident occurred at the trial, when the mother, in the courtroom, with uplifted hands, prayed for the punishment of those who were guilty of the death of her daughter.

"Lord on high," cried Mrs. Polreis in German, "I pray that Thou wilt visit Thy wrath upon the persons who slew my darling daughter. I ask for neither retribution nor revenge, but simply petition Thee that Thou wilt visit punishment upon the guilty in Thy own way."

POETIC JUSTICE RIVALS SOLOMON GIVING DECISION

Two Sisters-in-Law Claim Tablecloth and Set of Knives and Forks.

Solomon was mighty wise,
But O, you Werremeyer,
Whose lips drop words of wisdom while
Your fingers smite the lyre.

The Poetic Justice of Clayton, after listening to the claims of two women, hit upon a novel plan to determine which is the real owner of a tablecloth and half dozen silver knives and forks.

The litigants are Mrs. Jeanette Heidel of 3923 Delmar boulevard and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lizzie McTaggart of Webster Groves.

Mrs. McTaggart, up to May 3 last, lived at Mrs. Heidel's home. The sisters-in-law each had a dining room outfit. After Mrs. McTaggart moved to Webster Groves, Mrs. Heidel, according to her statement on the witness stand, made an inventory of her belongings and noticed that several articles were missing from the dining room. In Justice Werremeyer's court she swore out a search warrant, and a constable seized the tablecloth and the knives and forks at Mrs. McTaggart's home.

Each Woman Claims Goods.

Mrs. McTaggart Thursday testified that the articles were hers.

"No, they're mine," said Mrs. Heidel.

The testimony was so conflicting that Justice Werremeyer could not decide. He had the tablecloth and the cutlery brought into the courtroom.

After closely inspecting the articles, each woman remained positive that she was the owner.

"Now let me see," said Werremeyer, "This is an awful mix. If either claimant hoodwinks me, she'll get me in a fix."

So after pondering long and deeply, the Poetic Justice saw a light. Calling the women before him he said:

Becomes a Matching Game.

"If I am not mistaken, there are always napkins of the same pattern to match a tablecloth."

"Yes," answered the claimants.

"And there are spoons to match the knives and forks."

"Yes."

"All right, then," said the Judge. "The woman who comes into court next Thursday with the napkins and the spoons will be declared the owner of these articles. But, mind you, they must match. I will keep the tablecloth and the knives and forks so neither of you will have a chance to go shopping with them and match them."

Summer shoes for summer frocks

Dorothy Dodd

The unlimited selection which our stock of Dorothy Dodd low shoes affords, makes it possible for our shoe department to meet every possible requirement, and suit every individual taste.

The great variety of materials and colors employed in shoe fashions this season make a great number of shoes necessary to the wardrobe of every well-dressed woman.

Until the last year or so, shoes for the street were generally confined to blacks and tans, and there was little which might be termed distinctive about any woman's footwear.

Now it is a different story, and we find that good taste and shrewd judgment are as necessary to the proper selection of shoes as of hats or gowns. There is no positive shoe style—it depends upon individual requirements and personal taste.

The Dorothy Dodd shoes, however, are all good style, and if you want a special shoe for a particular costume see our new summer styles in Dorothy Dodds at..... $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50

FAMOUS GENERAL'S GRANDSON SOON TO BECOME A JANITOR

As Superintendent of State, War and Navy Building Will Be a Busy Man.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 18. — Lieut. Ulysses S. Grant III, grandson of the famous General and former President, is about to become the janitor of the greatest office building in the world. Capt. John H. Poole, Corps of Engineers, has been relieved of the duties of military aide to President Taft and Superintendent of the State, War and Navy buildings, and it is expected that Lieut. Grant will take his place—both places, as they go together.

The State, War and Navy building is the largest office building in the world. It extends from Pennsylvania avenue almost all over town. Branches of the enormous building can be found on almost any street within the radius of a mile.

If Lieut. Grant, as is now expected, becomes military aid to the President, it is not likely that he will dim the luster of Capt. Archibald Butt. The demands of the occupants of the State, War and Navy building are so numerous and critical that Ulysses S. Grant III will find little time to spend at the White House.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

BUSCH FAVORS REGULATION OF SALOONS AND BREWERIES

He Gives His Personal Views in Letter to New York Paper—Would Divorce Breweries From Retail Liquor Business.

By Leased Wire From New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The New York Sun today prints the following letter from Adolphus Busch of St. Louis:

To the Editor of the Sun—Sir:

Now that the Missouri Legislature has adjourned without submitting to popular vote the proposed constitutional amendment imposing State-wide prohibition, and the agitation has subsided, temporarily, at least, so that public opinion may be appealed to for a calm consideration of the merits of the proposed destruction of the brewing industries of the State, I wish to make a statement of my personal views and attitude on some matters which are intimately related to the subject of prohibition, not only in my beloved home State, but generally in the United States.

As an individual I believe in the temperate use of all things which used temperately add to the wholesome pleasures of life. I also believe that intemperance of any kind is bad, and that the State should exercise wisely its power to regulate traffic in all things which human experience has shown to be easily subject to harmful abuse, though beneficial when used temperately.

Therefore, the State should regulate the traffic in intoxicating liquors, but, like all efforts to regulate human conduct by legislation, its effort should be so designed as to cause the least impairment of individual freedom consistent with a wise degree of restraining regulation.

What Form of Regulation?

Assuming, therefore, that the traffic in liquor should be regulated and that beer should also be subject to regulation because it contains a small proportion of alcohol and is sold in the same saloons where liquors are sold—the question is, how ought the State to regulate the traffic so as to produce the fairest and most effectively beneficial results?

This should be by regulation, not by prohibition. It is not my purpose to discuss the merits of this conclusion, nor to present the reasons which led to it. It is my conviction, based on many years of observation in many parts of the world and on most minute consideration of the results of each method as tried in various states and countries. I know that prohibition does not prohibit, and I believe that it does infinitely more harm than good, both to the individual and the State.

The same question of regulation or prohibition was presented ac to our army and decided by Congress in favor of prohibition. The experience of the army without a regulated canteen has demonstrated the essential error of prohibiting instead of regulating. The recent appalling occurrences at Leavenworth furnish but another illustration of the fact that it is wrong to attempt by legislation to control men's habits as to matters not wrong in themselves.

Prohibition Hurts Soldier.

The abolition of the canteen has hurt the soldier and the service. The prohibition of all liquor to the civilian will likewise injure the citizen and the State. The American people are justly opposed to the evils resulting from abuses of the liquor business, but not to the business itself, when properly conducted.

The regulation must regulate. It is too late in history to contend that the traffic cannot be regulated, as severely or lightly as the public opinion of each community demands. The methods of regulation through refusing or revoking the licenses of all saloons which are not properly and lawfully conducted has demonstrated that there is a method which is effective, legal and fair.

Reputable saloon keepers are law-abiding citizens. They refuse to sell to women, minors or men showing signs of intoxication. They would welcome regulation which would put the dive-keeper out of business, because they are self-respecting men who believe their business is respectable, hope to keep it so, and are anxious to weed out those who abuse it.

The problem of regulating the traffic is the problem of regulating and so reforming the saloon. No fixed ratio between the number of saloons and population will furnish an adequate or safe rule for general application. Different communities will need varying kinds and degrees of regulation to meet peculiar local conditions. But the criterion of all regulation should be the public good rather than the good of the business.

Divorce Brewery and Saloon.

Divorce the saloon from the brewery and liquor supply house.

It is a fact that most breweries and liquor supply houses furnish the capital with which to start new customers in new saloons. They are forced to do this by competition. Self-preservation in a given locality requires them to compete in an undesirable contest which would not be necessary or possible if the law afforded reasonable regulation.

If all competitors were compelled to refrain from that kind of forced competition the public would still obtain its reasonable requirements of beer and liquors, the saloon keeper would become more independent of his source of supply, and the business of brewing would attain the ideal condition of manufacturing and selling merchandise.

The system of licensing saloons, subject to good behavior and of keeping them constantly under the jurisdiction of the license commissioner, forfeiting the license in any case if the established regulations are violated, has proved so effective in reforming the saloon that it should be adopted generally, and especially in small towns and rural districts where, through lack of proper regulation, saloons may become offensive.

Breweries Should Aid Public.

I believe that brewers should help to guard and protect the public against bad saloons by helping the license commissioner to ascertain whether a given man is worthy to receive or keep a license, and by refusing to aid or deal with any saloon keeper of bad character or who does not strictly comply with the regulations imposed by law.

In advocating this method of regulation I am not unmindful of the thousands of saloon keepers who have been my loyal friends. It is my conviction that they will be benefited, not injured, by it.

Having endeavored for many years to purify my business by refusing to sell to the proprietors of any saloons which I knew to be disreputable, I would now welcome any law which will afford a reasonable method of separating the brewery from the saloon, to the mutual benefit of both.

When the saloon is divorced from the brewery, the brewer will have no more political power or influence than any other manufacturer whose only hold on his retailer consists in the quality of his product and the reasonableness of its price.

Hopes for Fair Treatment.

If the zealous enthusiasts who, in different parts of the country are now seeking to destroy, without compensation, the vast brewing industries which the Federal and state governments have encouraged us to build up, will abandone such high-handed and unjust confiscation and direct their efforts toward procuring effective, fair and reasonable regulation, I believe they will find most brewers willing to co-operate with them.

Of this I am sure, that effective and reasonable regulation is possible, and that regulation in the manner suggested here would satisfactorily solve the problem in a manner which is adequate and fair at the same time.

Having an abiding faith in the ultimate common sense of the American people, I believe that they will vote for regulation, temperance and moderation, not for prohibition, confiscation and destruction.

BLACK HAND RESORT IS RAIDED

Blood-Stained Dagger Found—Two Men Held for Blackmail.

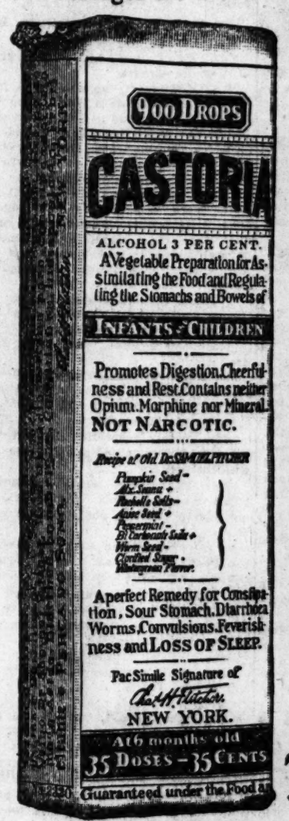

CINCINNATI, June 18.—Postoffice inspectors and city detectives rounded up a patrol wagon full of Italians tonight and took them before Federal Commissioner Adler. Vicenzo Arrigo, fruit dealer, and Frank Spadero, saloon keeper, were held over on warrants charging conspiracy in connection with an alleged attempt to extort money from John Amicon of Columbus, O., by Black Hand methods.

The arrests were made in Spadero's saloon, and a stiletto taken from one of the men showed blood that had dried upon the blade.

Dr. Gustave A. Eisengraeber, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "I have used your Castoria repeatedly in my practice with good results, and can recommend it as an excellent, mild and harmless remedy for children."

Dr. E. J. Dennis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used and prescribed your Castoria in my sanitarium and outside practice for a number of years and find it to be an excellent remedy for children."

Dr. S. A. Buchanan, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use."

Dr. J. E. Simpson, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."

Dr. R. E. Eskildson, of Omaha, Neb., says: "I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it."

Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. Is not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, sufficient recommendation? What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

How Money Is Wasted On 5-Cent Cans

When you get the right brand of Evaporated Milk, you are wasting one-third if you buy in 5-cent cans. Please read these facts and see.

Let us say at the start that every grocer has 5-cent cans of Van Camp's.

They are just as large as the 5-cent cans of vastly inferior brands.

And we sell more than of the 10-cent cans, because of mistaken ideas.

So, we don't give these facts to attack competition. They are simply to show how to get the most for your money.

Six Ounces for 5 Cents

All makers give six ounces of Evaporated Milk for five cents.

It matters not how much the milk is reduced by evaporation. It may be reduced as much as Van Camp's, or only partly as much.

All charge five cents for six ounces.

So you get just as much of Van Camp's for five cents as you get of the poorest brands on the market.

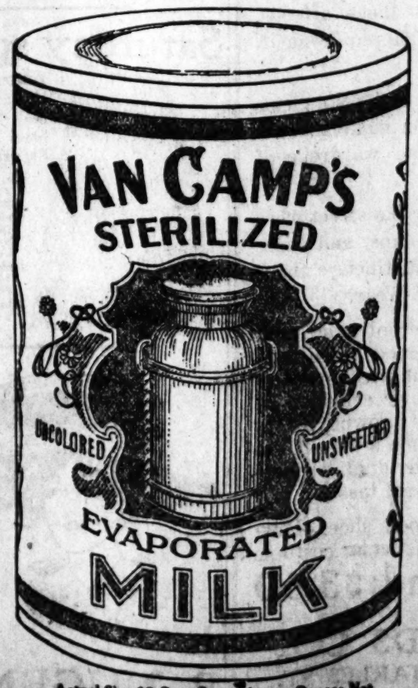

But you get but six ounces of any.

Sixteen Ounces, 10 Cents

In the 10-cent can of Van Camp's—the tall size—you get sixteen ounces of evaporated milk.

That means an even pint.

It means exactly one-third more for the money than you get in the 5-cent cans.

Actual Size 10-Cent Can. Sixteen Ounces Net.

In Van Camp's you get 8 per cent of butter fat, about 28 per cent total solids.

That is because we use rich, Holstein milk. And because we evaporate by far the larger part of the water.

If you put back the water which we take out, you get about three pints of very rich milk out of a 10-cent can.

And that rich milk will cost you, if you buy Van Camp's by the case, just about six cents per quart.

That's what you ought to pay.

But the same milk in 5-cent cans—even when bought by the case—costs you over eight cents per quart.

The Mistake Lies Here

You who buy 5-cent cans don't get the full good of Van Camp's.

You use it for coffee and cereals, perhaps. But you probably use raw milk in your cooking.

That is a great mistake.

Van Camp's is fully twice better for cooking than the average run of raw milk.

Raw milk always separates, for the butter fat rises and the solids fall. So raw milk used in cooking is rarely whole milk.

In Van Camp's you get the whole milk—all of the butter fat and all of the solids belonging to the richest milk.

If you will try Van Camp's in only one milk dish you will never use any other. Note the flavor, the richness you get from it.

Van Camp's is fine on the table, of course, But it is also fine in the kitchen. It has twice the worth of raw milk.

Another Mistake

Then some people think that evaporated milk doesn't keep when the can is opened.

It will keep if you get Van Camp's. In usual weather it keeps 24 hours and it keeps 48 hours or longer on ice.

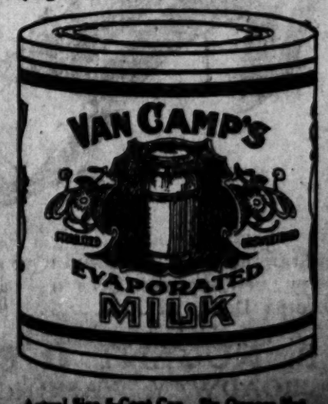

Keep it in the can until you use it up, for the can won't hurt it any.

In the long run, what is best for you is also best for us. That's why we publish these facts.

Get the most for your money.

Buy the pint cans—the 10-cent cans. Then ask your grocer to quote you his discount by the case.

You save money by buying 48 cans at a time. And you save all of the trouble of buying from hand to mouth.

Actual Size 5-Cent Can. Six Ounces Net.

MEWES AND WIFE BOTH MURDERED, THINKS CORONER

Advances Theory Despite Verdict That Farmer Killed Woman and Self.

$1200 ON DRESSER

Dr. Bracy Believes Slayer Fled Either From Fright or Horror.

Though the Coroner's jury late Thursday night found a verdict to the effect that William Mewes murdered his wife and committed suicide at his farm near Ballwin in the afternoon, Coroner Rolla Bracy of St. Louis County said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday morning that he believed both the old farmer and his wife were murdered. Mewes was 70 years old and is said to have been worth $75,000.

The Coroner bases the double-murder theory largely upon the fact that but one empty shell was found in the old-fashioned revolver that lay beside the body of Mewes. Both Mewes and his wife were shot through the head, each wound being about an inch above the left ear. The bullet that passed through Mrs. Mewes' head was found under the bed, on which her body lay.

Dr. Bracy suggests also that if the shots had been fired at very close range, as would have been the case had the husband done the firing, powder burns would have been left.

No Powder Burns Present.

No powder burns were present in either case, yet the weapon found near Mewes' body was of a make which would leave such evidence of close-range firing.

There seems to be, however, considerable evidence to justify the murder and suicide verdict. The body of Mrs. Mewes was found in her bed, partly covered with a feather bedtick, her face covered with a clean white tablecloth. In a pasteboard box on the dresser was a wallet containing $1200. On top of the box lay Mrs. Mewes' gold watch and chain and a purse containing $5. The watch and chain were blood-smeared.

Body on Front Porch.

The body of Mewes was found lying on the front porch of the farmhouse which is about twenty feet from the public road, a mile and a half southwest of Ballwin. Mrs. John Bopp, a neighbor, discovered the body when she drove past the house about 6 p. m. Thursday.

Mrs. Mewes was in Ballwin in the morning. A witness testified at the inquest that she said she was in a hurry to return home, because her husband was acting queerly and had been rather cross of late.

ELECTRIC CAR DOES STUNTS.

The remarkable performances of a Babcock electric automobile during the week have been topped by a final climb of Manchester hill, one of the hardest in this section, and a round trip to Valley Park of 40 miles, on one charge of electricity with plenty of power left to easily make the same round trip again without recharging.

The most remarkable performance made by the little Babcock victoria was a run on the city streets last Saturday of 107 miles on one charge. At the end of this contest the car spurted from downtown to the garage of the Phillips Automobile Co., 5011 Delmar boulevard, at top speed.

Monday the car, which weighs 1800 pounds, was given a speed trial on Skinker road in which a speed of 33 miles an hour was realized at a distance of 500 feet from a standing start and then the car was brought to a full stop within 50 feet from where it was making this speed. On Tuesday, on its run to Valley Park, the Babcock went up tortuously steep Manchester hill at a speed of 20 miles an hour.

A few weeks ago at Buffalo, N. Y., a Babcock electric was demonstrated at 60 miles an hour and the same car accomplished two miles over a country road in an official test on April 27 in 3 minutes and 46 seconds.

The secret of these performances lies in the exclusive motor and controller of this car, as well as on the batteries, which Mr. Babcock has spent years in perfecting.

The simplicity, safety, easy control, cleanliness and entire practicability of the electric car for city, suburban and light touring uses have been demonstrated fully by the performances of the Babcock electric. The fact that the services of a chauffeur can be dispensed with and the car kept at home are strong points in its favor.

A simple device for charging can be installed anywhere. The car, which has made these tests is a stock car and is to be sold in St. Louis.

Last Home of Wild Buffalo.

Recent exploration of the Athabasca-Mackenzie region shows that it contains many valuable fur-bearing animals, and it appears also to be the home of the last wild remnant of the American bison family. The herds of bison are not numerous, and they are being rapidly exterminated by wolves. The Canadian musk ox also inhabits this region, and in the spring, when the rivers and springs escaped from the frost, great flocks of birds, including most of the migratory game birds of America, resort thither to breed.

Corinne Shoes, Next Time Sure!

WE ask that you try a pair of Corinne Shoes; after that you will do as the others have done. Women who have worn one pair of Corinne Shoes will never be satisfied with any other shoe at the same prices. They continue to buy and wear the "Corinne," for this very best of reasons—it has no equal, save in shoes that cost at least a dollar more than the "Corinne." $3.00

WE know to a certainty the material that Corinne Shoes are made of; we know that a most reliable manufacturer makes them for us according to our most rigid requirements; and above all, we KNOW that we are selling you a shoe that no other dealer could afford to sell for less than a dollar more, when we sell you the "Corinne" at $3.50 and $3.00.

PACKING HOUSES IN CITY MUST ABATE SMELL OR QUIT

Board of Health Orders Nuisance Stopped Within 20 Days—Glue Plant Closes.

Under a peremptory order from the Board of Health the St. Louis Dressed Beef Co. and the Independent Packing Co. must cease, within 20 days, to burden the south breeze with sickening odors from their slaughter houses and fertilizer factories.

Secretary Urquhart of the Dressed Beef company and Manager Bischoff of the Independent company said Friday that their concerns had not decided what should be done in regard to the order. They would not say whether they think, with the Board of Health officials, that the companies will be unable to abate the stench, and will have to move to the country.

The Board's order, issued after an investigation by Assistant Health Commissioner Jordan and a hearing of complaints, related only to the two packing companies. It did not include the adjoining glue factory or the quarry pit at Grand and Laclede avenues, which has been sending forth smoke and stifling fumes for nearly two years past like a civic Gehenna.

But Max Tamm, proprietor of the glue plant, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that he has closed his plant for the summer, to demonstrate that the odors do not originate from it.

Croak's "System" Ready-to-Wear Clothes, for Men and Young Men.

M. E. Croak & Co.

Tenth and Olive

THE preposterous idea that any clothing store can equal Croak's in value-giving is likely to gain but small credence from the wise clothing buyer of St. Louis; in this respect we stand entirely alone, without a serious rival or competitor, and the best evidence of it is the unbounded confidence and loyal patronage of the people.

No prejudice exists at Croak's; we live up to our claim of being "a store for all the people;" there's a tremendous contingent of clothing buyers in St. Louis, none of whom care to pay more than $14.75 for a suit. In our Ready-to-Wear suit department for Men and Young Men, we've collected over 900 suits at this price; they're the best $14.75 suits obtainable in this big city, and we'll prove it to your satisfaction today, or any time you give us the opportunity; they are made up in conservative models of extreme effects; what's the use of paying $25.00 for these suits, when we sell them for only $14.75

If you have been in the habit of buying your clothes of a dealer who can show you only one or perhaps two lines, remember Croak's is the store to display the clothes of all the best makers in this country; here you pay your money and take your choice; we place no restrictions around you; if $20 is your price you'll have the pleasure of choosing from the biggest assortment of suits at this price imaginable, including all the wanted fabrics, in every shade or pattern under the sun; we know we do not exaggerate when we tell you that suits priced elsewhere at $30 are not a bit better than these we sell for . $20

WEST END GANGS HAVE DESPERATE FIGHT IN STREET

"Bull Pats" and "Brindle Sports" Clash in Fashionable Cabanne.

LEADERS USE TEETH

Canine Combatants Separated by Residents—Cat Easily Whips the Victor.

Even the dogs—and out in the highly civilized West End, too!—are indulging in the delights of gang feuds and fights, a la "Egan's Rats." The latest and most disastrous feud fight took place at early gaslight Thursday night, between the Bull Pat gang of Maple avenue and the Brindle Sport gang of Laurel street. The Bull Pats won.

"Pat" is a big white bull dog who holds a permanent job as night watchdog for W. J. Jones of 5544 Maple avenue. He works for his board and collar, with license paid in advance. He is good-natured so far as folks are concerned, but no dog living off Maple avenue need apply.

Pat objects particularly to the Laurel street dogs. Laurel crosses Maple at his corner, and around the corner, at 931 Laurel, lives "Sport," a hefty brindle terrier, who thinks he owns Nelson Pope, the boy who thinks he owns the dog.

Sport Divides Leadership.

Sport has a bosom pal, a spotted water spaniel who occupies kennel apartments on the premises of Frank Ames at 947 Laurel street. Sport and the spotted spaniel are leaders of the Laurel street dog gang, and they have many followers.

Pat is the only chief of the Maple avenue clan, but he recognizes as first lieutenant a black water spaniel of Maple avenue, and Thornby place, backed by Fred Nugent, son of James Nugent, merchant.

It has been a long time since any member of the Brindle Sports had invaded the Bull Pat territory, so Thursday night Pat went out and invaded Laurel street. He was spoiling for a scrap with Sport, upon whom he pounced at sight.

Sport was badly chewed up in the first round. When Pat released his half-Nelson hold on Nelson Pope's pride to get a whole-Nelson hold, Sport retreated to his castle, and gave himself a furlough on sick leave.

Attacked From the Rear.

Pat made a broad jump for the fleeing enemy, but was satisfied to turn his attention to the spotted spaniel, who came up to reinforce his licked leader. Pat caught the spotted spaniel's throat between his jaws and held on just like a bulldog. By this time Fred Nugent's black water spaniel had moved up to the front and was trying to assist his chief by attacking the spotted spaniel from the rear, his objective being the enemy's tail.

But several hundred men and women had gathered to witness the battle, and some of them caught Pat's reinforcement by the tail and held him off.

Meanwhile Mr. Jones had been summoned by the non-combatants, who told him his dog was killing Mr. Ames' spaniel. Scores of men had dashed in to the rescue, and Pat's tail was almost wrenched from its socket. But the bulldog held on. The spotted spaniel was groggy.

"Leggo my dog's tail!" shouted Jones. "That's no way to pull off a bulldog. He's not fighting with his tail. You've got to pry the other end of him loose."

Grip Lasted 17 Minutes.

Jones struggled through the crowd and caught Pat's iron jaws, one in each hand. He succeeded, in 17 minutes, in opening the jaws so that the spotted spaniel could drop out and retire.

As Jones was dragging Pat back to Maple avenue, Nelson Pope arrived, just from the bedside of Sport.

"Keep your old bullpup off my street hereafter," he yelled, "or Sport'll get the drop on him next time and chew his block off!"

But the saddest part of the moving tale is yet to be chronicled. Coming down on a car Friday morning one of the witnesses of the fight, who had had a tail hold on Pat and had heard the Pope boy make his boast in behalf of Sport, saw the latter dog ignominiously defeated by a big cat.

The cat jumped on the dog's back, clawed with four claws, hissed its contempt and spat in the lacerated ear of Sport, who yelped and ran to sanctuary in his kennel.

JOHN D.'S MONEY IS REJECTED

OMAHA, Neb., June 18.—None of John D. Rockefeller's money for improvements on the athletic field of the University of Nebraska. That is the decision of Gov. Shallenberger and Chancellor Avery. While the hand of Bryan has not been shown, it is the opinion that his influence has been felt, as he defeated the plan two years ago, when the Oil King offered to pay for a building on the campus, on condition that it be known as Rockefeller Hall.

For some time the students have been circulating a petition asking Rockefeller for $50,000. Today the petition was presented to the Governor and the Chancellor, but both refused to sign it.

Politician Helped Prepare Proposed Ordinance for City Institutions.

600 JOBS AT STAKE

Another Public Hearing on the Measure Will Be Had Next Wednesday.

Hiram Lloyd helped to draw the bill which seeks to reorganize the management of the City Hospital, Poorhouse, Insane Asylum and Board of Health.

Mr. Lloyd is not generally regarded as an authority on psychiatry, neurology, psychology or surgery, but he is a clever politician and has been urging the passage of the bill before the Municipal Assembly goes into vacation for the summer.

Lloyd evinces profound interest in the conduct of the several hospitals for the sick and insane. There are 600 jobs in those institutions and in the ordinary course of events the Republican administration would have to wait two years to control them.

Councilman Charles Espenschied, who introduced the bill in the Council and who presided at the public hearing on the subject Thursday, admitted to a Post-Dispatch reporter that Lloyd had helped Dr. John C. Morfit in its preparation.

Lloyd Helped "Here and There."

"He didn't draw the bill, you understand, he simply helped a little here and there," said Mr. Espenschied. "Most of the provisions concerning the medical affairs of the institutions were written by Dr. Morfit. He deserves all the credit."

"How much did Mr. Lloyd do?" Mr. Espenschied was asked.

"Just a little—a very little."

At the public hearing Thursday afternoon Mr. Espenschied, Delegate R. A. Walker of the Twenty-second Ward and George Eigel of the Ninth Ward vociferously applauded all the speakers who praised the bill. So many physicians were on hand to oppose the measure, however, that only a few had an opportunity to speak. Mr. Espenschied therefore continued the hearing until next Wednesday.

The City Hospital Alumni Association has joined the protest of individual physicians against the passage of the bill. The association's letter, signed by Dr. Walter Baumgariner, president, has been sent to Speaker Rombauer of the House of Delegates.

The letter says in part:

The secrecy which marked the preparation of the bill and the manner in which it is being handled with the avowed intention to force its hasty passage, have failed to inspire confidence or remove fears that there are purposes back of it that have not come to light and which are not wholly in the public interest.

We therefore desire hereby to enter our earnest protest against any hasty or inconsiderate action on said bill and ask that the most ample time be allowed to the medical profession to carefully study its provisions and learn just what its scope and purpose may be.

It is further respectfully suggested that the bill might be referred to the Board of Freeholders, which body will hold hearings where this and other propositions touching the public hospitals can be debated, and their merits or defects brought clearly into view.

Opposed by Physicians.

Dr. C. W. Thierry, formerly assistant physician at the Insane Asylum, attacked the proposal to put that institution under the control of a hospital commissioner such as the bill contemplates creating. Only a resident superintendent, having complete authority over the management of the asylum, Dr. Thierry said, would justify a change from present conditions.

No asylum in the country, Dr. Thierry said, has any such management as the bill proposes to establish for the institution in St. Louis. In the course of his remarks Dr. Thierry said he had gone to Dr. Morfit to suggest changes in the bill before it was introduced, but that no alterations had been made.

"Well, you wanted us to abandon the plan of a hospital commission and we couldn't do that," said Dr. Morfit.

Besides Dr. Thierry those who opposed the bill were Drs. W. E. Fischel, Charles Shattinger, John Green Jr., Joseph L. Grindon and Walter Fischel.

Advocates of the bill as a whole or in part were Drs. Herman Tuholske, Morfit, W. John Harris and V. B. Kieffer.

A Special Offer.

Every man who is looking for a high-grade suit at a very low price will be interested in Rothgiesser Brothers' special offer of a select line of finest $15, $18 and $18 spring and summer suits at $9.85—almost half their actual value. These suits are so rich in quality—so perfect in style and cut, and such positive $15 to $18 values—that one is impressed with Rothgiesser Brothers' claims and is eager to make the saving which this firm offers.

This special offer is made to familiarize more men with the location of this store—corner Broadway and Chestnut streets—to win new customers—and to convince the great buying public that the best styles and the most attractive values are to be had at "Rothgiesser's."

HARMS' CHARGES AGAINST PACKERS CORROBORATED

Witness Examined by Government Investigators Upholds Former Meat Inspector.

The charges of James F. Harms against the meat inspection system at the National Stockyards in East St. Louis were corroborated in every essential detail by Julius Bischoff of Belleville, another meat inspector, in his testimony before Dr. A. D. Melvin and George P. McCabe, solicitor of the Department of Agriculture, according to reports.

Dr. Melvin and Mr. McCabe refused to make any statement as to Bischoff's testimony. For more than two hours Bischoff was before the two investigators, who had been sent here by Secretary Wilson to investigate Harms' charges. Bischoff was recalled Friday, and will finish his testimony.

Bischoff is one of the inspectors relied upon by Harms to substantiate his charges. Harms saw Bischoff after he had testified, and says Bischoff assured him that he corroborated all of the charges made in Harms' letter to Secretary Wilson, and called attention to many other alleged irregularities not referred to by Harms.

Great Secresy Displayed.

Many meat inspectors and other employes of the Bureau of Animal Industry in East St. Louis were called before the committee during Thursday's session, but the investigators refused to give their names. Dr. Melvin and Mr. McCabe stated that they would make their report to Secretary Wilson, and will not disclose any part of the proceedings.

It will depend, they said, on Secretary Wilson as to whether the testimony will eventually be made public.

Employes of Dr. Clancy's office were practically in charge of the investigation. They called the witnesses, watched the doors so that nobody else could get into the hearings and handed out the one report given out by the committee after Harms refused to testify in the executive hearing.

Dr. R. P. Steddom, Chief of the Inspection Division of the Bureau of Animal Industry; Dr. E. A. Behnke and Dr. George Ditewig, a traveling inspector, are also attending the hearings, not as commissioners, but in an advisory capacity.

MOTHERS' CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Will Establish Cooking Classes for Girls of Columbia School.

A Mothers' club was organized at the second annual picnic given by the Columbia School, under the directions of the Fathers' Club of the school. The purpose of the club is to devote attention to the girls of the school and in forming training classes in culinary and other home talents.

The Mothers' Club will also be affiliated with the Fathers' Club for the benefit of the children. Mrs. Charles Zelle was appointed chairman and the first meeting will be held shortly after school commences in September.

Breakfast Sense

Overloaded Stomachs Make Poor Workmen.

Health is a state of normal, spiritual, mental and physical function. It has a definite physical symptom, the chemical equilibrium of the blood and organic secretions.

That is the assertion of authority. With the stomach overloaded with food that sours and is hard to digest the blood is loaded with the sour acids and gases, the head aches, the nerves are shattered, bowels disordered, and ill health reigns supreme.

Can one be pleasant, industrious, capable in such condition? The remedy is simple—wholesome food, open air exercise and right thinking. Often the right kind of breakfast means a splendid day's work with head and heart and hand.

A bad breakfast means a day of nasty temper and unsatisfactory results. Start the day right with E-C Corn Flakes or Egg-O-See Wheat Flakes served with good milk or cream. Always ready to serve—crisp and delicious. If you haven't already eaten them—you've missed something good—order today and you'll not regret it.

Remember it is only the famous Egg-O-See process that makes E-C Corn Flakes and Egg-O-See Wheat Flakes so delicious and healthful.

WOMEN SCREAM FOR HELP, ROB MAN WHO CAME

Would-Be Rescuer Is Robbed When He Answers Cry for Assistance.

Two women who say they are Mrs. Nellie Doyle of 6208 Etzel avenue and Mrs. Jennie Mynott of 1305 Washington avenue are locked up in the Carr Street Police Station charged with robbing Ernest Combs, an employe in a newspaper mailing room.

Combs says the two women got him into Mrs. Mynott's home at 1305 Washington avenue Thursday night by screaming "Help! Murder!" and that then they robbed him of $4.

The police say that Mrs. Doyle's real name is Mrs. Till Grether, and that she is the wife of a former State official. Mrs. Doyle denies this, but Mrs Mynott says that the name of her companion in custody is Mrs. Grether.

Combs, who is 18 years old and lives at 514 North Fourteenth street, was going to his home early Friday morning when he heard cries for help coming from the house at 1305 Washington avenue. He ran into the house.

As Combs turned into the door of the front parlor the two women grabbed him. He says that they choked him and took the money from his clothes. He finally broke away from them and jumped through the front window calling this time for help himself.

As Combs left the window and started crying out the alarm, the two women left the house and ran east on Washington avenue. They were arrested at Thirteenth street by Policemen O'Hare and Haley, who had been attracted to the scene by their cries and the cries of Combs.

MARGIN SLUMP HURTS STOCKS OF POLICEMAN

Patrolman Heckel Explains Vagaries of Market to Sergeant Conlon.

Patrolman Ben Heckel has been speculating in stocks.

This is not an introduction to a story about the financial downfall of a once wealthy policeman. Heckel has not been dabbling on his own account. He has been gathering evidence for the grand jury to use in its inquiry into bucketshops.

"The heavy selling movement indicated the weakness of the market's technical position yesterday," said Heckel when he reported for duty at Central Station Friday.

"What are you talking about?" asked Sergt. Conlon in open-eyed amazement.

"The break in stocks," said Heckel. "Didn't you hear about the rumored clash between British and Russian warships?"

Yes," said Conlon, mopping his brow, "but what has that to do with the Police Relief Association's entertainment?"

"The entertainment is entirely foreign to the subject," said Heckel. "What I was trying to elucidate is that the entire stock market was demoralized at noon yesterday by a steady decline in margins. It is possible that President Taft's scheme to tax corporation earnings may have had something to do with the situation."

Don't Want to "Cough."

"My goodness, isn't that awful," gasped Conlon. "Do you think the police will have to cough up part of their salary?"

"You don't follow me," said Heckel.

"Oh, yes I do," said Conlon, "but I don't know where you are going."

"You see," continued Heckel, "the stock market is about to undergo a period of irregularity. Consequently, intending buyers are holding off. They consider any immediate upturn as merely temporary."

"Yes, yes, I see," said Conlon sagely. "How stupid of me at first, don't you know. Really, really, I quite overlooked your point. You mean to say—that is, I mean what you are talking about is that the—yes, yes, I quite understand. It is simplicity itself."

"You see, the causes of the market's recent hesitation have been removed by the liquidation that has been forced. Therefore, if there is no fundamental"—

"Yes, yes, I see," said Conlon, "but I must hurry now."

JURY 5 TO 1 FOR FREEING ACTOR WHO KILLED TWO

Inquest Into Death of Jealous Villagers Postponed After Night Session.

ALL ON GIRL'S ACCOUNT

Youth Was Attacked on Previous Occasion When He Escorted Her Home.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAIRFIELD, Ill., June 18.—After debating almost all night, the Coroner's jury which is investigating the slaying of two young Fairfield men by an actor who had aroused their jealousy by his attentions to a young woman, postponed their consideration of the evidence until 8 o'clock tonight, when the case will be resumed. The jury stood five to one in favor of exonerating the slayer when it separated this morning.

Youth Held Prisoner.

Herbert Orrin Pinnick, 18 years old, and connected with the Harrington Theater Co., is held prisoner on the charge of murder. One of his shots instantly killed Dr. Charles F. Leininger, veterinary surgeon, and secretary of the Wayne County Fair Association.

Frank Bender McCulloch died at his home from a bullet wound in the abdomen, and Richard Sloan is shot through the thigh, and probably will remain a cripple as long as he lives.

The shooting took place in a secluded spot in West Main street, almost at the doorstep of the County Coroner.

Pinnick had left the side of the girl whom he had been escorting home from the show and took refuge there when he was surrounded by a squad of the young men of Fairfield. They were beating him when he fired the three shots that routed them.

Actor Is Assaulted.

The Harington Theater Co. had been giving shows in the local theater since June 7. Soon after the company's arrival here members of the company began to pay attention to some of the girls of Fairfield.

Pinnick was assaulted a few nights ago, after accompanying a young woman home from the show. Last night he walked home with the same girl. Anticipating an attack his comrades had sent along a man to trail him and be ready in case there was further trouble.

When it did come, the attack surprised Pinnick, and he dashed for refuge in the Coroner's doorway. His assailants overtook him there and were pummeling him when he fired into the group, each one of his three shots dropping a man.

Take as directed. This formula has over 3000 cures to its credit. It changes the taste for tobacco completely. * * *

ANALYSIS SHOWS CHLOROFORM KILLED WIFE OF DR. CLEMINSON

Poison Administered Externally, Chemists Say—Inquest to Be Reopened.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Chloroform, administered externally, caused the death of Mrs. Nora Jane Cleminson, wife of Dr. Haldan Cleminson, of this city, May 31, according to an official report made to Dr. Hoffman by Dr. Walter F. Haines and Dr. F. Le Count, after a chemical analysis of the woman's body.

Dr. Cleminson was arrested after his wife's death. He declared that she must have poisoned herself accidentally and no disposition of the case has been made. The coroner's inquest will be reopened today.

Coroner Hoffman said that the analysis showed that the chloroform had not been taken internally. He said also that it would be extremely difficult for a person to committ suicide by an external application of the poison, as sleep would come before the final application could be made. With the cause of death determined definitely, the mystery is expected to be cleared soon.

Rumors have been afloat for some time that Dean Waters was the most likely man for the place, and since he has been here a few days the announcement was no surprise.

RECORD FOR NEW YORK REALTY

Union Dime Savings Bank Lot Sold for $375 Per Foot.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Union Dime Savings Bank property at Broadway and Thirty-second street, facing Greeley Square, has been bought by Edward Hedley Cuthbertson and Charles Kaufman for $1,500,000. The site comprises 4000 square feet and the price was at the rate of $375 a square foot, the second highest figure known to have been paid for land in this town and the highest outside the financial district.

The southeast corner of Wall street and Broadway owned by St. Louis men and known as Number One Wall street, brought $582 a square foot in 1905. Since 1901 the record price in the midtown section has been $324.95 a square foot, which was paid for the northwest corner of Broadway and Thirty-fourth street.

HOSPITALS PLANNED FOR PICNIC

Four Schools Will Unite in Outing at Carondelet Park.

Such a large attendance is expected at the four-school-picnic in Carondelet Park Saturday that a tent for lost children and a hospital tent with physicians and ambulances are to be provided. The lost-children tent will be near the band stand, and the hospital tent near the De Soto Monument.

Forty-six hundred pupils of the Alabama, Blow, Carondelet and Des Peres schools will attend the picnic. A grand procession will move at 9 o'clock from the Blow School to the park, the other three schools previously marching to the Blow School. Four brass Bands will be in line. The day's athletic events will include games between the Des Peres and Blow baseball teams and 18 contests, most of them races, several of them for girls.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.

Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as sacredly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Great Family Doctor Book, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition—1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. Sent free, in plain wrapper to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, or in cloth binding for 31 stamps.

BOARD CONFIRMS REPORT THAT PUPILS ATTEND SCHOOL DRUNK

Parents Apealed To in Hope of Stopping Practice—No Cigarettes for Boys Under 16.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The report that drunkenness prevails among the pupils in the Bayonne, N. J., public schools has been verified, despite the denials of the city officials, by a committee of the School Board, whose report sustains the charges made by Dr. Henry A. Abbott, medical inspector, that many children attended school under the influence of liquor.

The School Board issued an appeal to parents, teachers and pupils to do their utmost in discouraging the use of intoxicants by the children of the city.

It was also resolved to enforce the law forbidding the sale of cigarettes to boys under 16.

Pointed Paragraphs.

From the Chicago News.

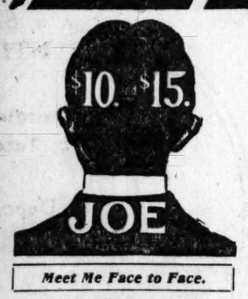

Many a man who follows the band wouldn't have the nerve to face the music.

Keep your eye on the humble man. Perhaps he is lying low for the purpose of humbling you.

Many a man's reputation for truthfulness goes lame when he begins to say things about himself.

Occasionally a man climbs so high that he roosts above everybody else—then he begins to get lonesome.

MISS EDWIN DONK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Donk of Castleman avenue, and Mr. Robert Lungstras will be married at the home of her parents Saturday evening at 5 o'clock. The Rev. Jonas will officiate. A wedding supper will follow the ceremony. It will be served under a large awning, hung and draped with oak boughs and illuminated by rose-shaded electric lights.

Miss Donk will wear a white satin robe with Irish lace, and her long tulle veil will be fastened with a coronet of waxen orange bossoms. Miss Edmee Conrades, a cousin of the bride-elect, will be her only attendant. Mr. Lungstras will be served by Mr. Ernest Koken as best man. Miss Conrades will wear pink messaline satin and carry Killarney roses.

A large reception will take place from 8 to 10 o'clock. The bride and bridegroom will depart for the East to spend the early days of their honeymoon. They will reside in St. Louis. Both are prominent in Union Club circles.

The Y. O. M.'s are guests of Mr. W. K. Niedringhaus at the Oasis Club, King's Lake, for the week end. The party comprises Misses Gretchen Niedringhaus, Lucille Nake, Grace Strassberger, Isabella Neslage, Hattie Schmidt, Jean Burnside, Marie Niedringhaus and Mrs. W. K. Niedringhaus.

Mrs. Charles Pickles entertained in honor of Miss E. V. Selleck of the Lucerne apartment Tuesday. The guests included Mmes. Atto R. Tasche, Thomas Van Studdiford, E. Trorlicht, Thomas Harding, S. C. Delong, E. Fontana, William Sleeper, Sinclair, Dana, Mason, Hancock, Rogers, Herron, Bartlette, Pickles, Selleck; Misses Anita Pickles, Marie Trorlicht, Hester Rosebrough.

Mrs. Alice D. Willis and her father, Mr. W. Dunning, are touring the West, being at present in Salt Lake City. They will go to the Seattle Fair and to Bellingham. They will return to St. Louis in the autumn.

Dr. and Mrs. Bransford Lewis, who have gone East for a few weeks, are at the Hotel Wolcott, New York, where they entertained friends at dinner Tuesday evening.

A party from Old Orchard Park attended the American Musical Association convention in Atlantic City and will visit Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore before they return, which will be about July 1. They are: Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Mosby, Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Duck, Mrs. H. W. Krieger, Mrs. A. J. Walsh and Miss A. Kavanaugh.

A number of entertainments have been given in honor of Miss Margarita Pauk, one of this year's graduates of Mary Institute, before her departure for Europe. Miss Pauk expects to sail June 26 for a tour of the Continent, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Keleg of Altedena, Cal.

Miss Ethel A. Rempp, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rempp of 7408 Pennsylvania avenue, was married Wednesday to Mr. Julius von Clossman of 6823 Salzburger avenue, son of Dr. August von Clossman. Only the immediate relatives were present.

After the supper the bride and bridegroom were escorted to their new residence, 7402 Minnesota avenue, where they will be at home to their friends after June 20.

Mrs. T. J. Shepherd of 5928 Minerva avenue entertained at luncheon Wednesday in honor of her daughter, Mildred Shepherd, who was graduated from the Hempstead school.

Mrs. Shepherd and her daughters, the Misses Mildred and Beatrice Shepherd, will leave in a few days to spend the summer in the East. They will visit friends in Maine, New York and Boston.

The Lafayette Park Church and Sunday school will give their annual picnic Saturday at O'Fallon Park. Special cars will leave the Geyer and Jefferson avenue car sheds at 10 a. m. for the party.

Miss May Moberly and Mr. J. V. Manning were married Friday at 12:30 o'clock in the Union Avenue Christian Church. The Rev. Dr. Philputt officiated. The ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Mary Hazel Waller, the bride's niece, was flower girl. The bride wore a going-away gown of gray cloth, with hat and gloves to correspond.

Mr. and Mrs. Manning departed on a midday train for the West. They will tour Canada and visit the Seattle fair. They will be at home after July 10 with the bride's mother, Mrs. R. Moberly, at 5090 Maple avenue.

SKIN RASH RELIEVED.

Soothing Liquid X-Zalia Soon Heals the Flesh.

The quickest way to stop the soreness of a skin rash and heal the flesh is to wet the rash with X-Zalia. This liquid is so cooling, soothing and healing that it is always effective in relieving any itching or irritation.

Uses Billion Yards of Twine.
From the National Magazine.

Some idea of the quantity of material used by the postal service may be gained when it is stated that during last year the division furnished 925,000,000 yards of twine, 3,260,000 pens, 283,000 penholders, 650,000 pencils, and 2,600,000 blank cards. To wrap the bundles 5,400,000 sheets of wrapping paper were used. Blank forms are furnished by the millions. Of the form "Application for Domestic Money Order," which is seen in the lobby of every post office, there were 161,770,000 used last year, and during the same period 69,034 rubber stamps were manufactured and supplied to post offices.

GENUINE PRIESTLEY FOR $10.

Tomorrow the Globe, 7th and Franklin av., offers genuine "English Priestley" Cravanetted Mohair Coat and Pant Suits for $10. These are the same that are sold everywhere else from $17 to $20. Call and see.

SIR!

You ought to get one of those summer suits on sale here Saturday! As a matter of fact you ought to get two, because the prices are down so far that you can afford it. Just bear in mind the big fact that we are perfectly willing to send home a bunch of these garments and let you make your selection in the bosom of your family. Nothing would please us more than to have you compare them with suits sent from other stores, too. This has worked beautifully for us. Every man who has tried our "proposition of home comparison" has decided in our favor—ponder that a bit! Every blessed one—and that means a big lot of men. These clothes are city clothes, made for an exacting clientele—a finicky clientele, if you please—a clientele of men who know as much as we do about clothes. We bought a big lot outright from the two supremely best makers in America, so that we can guarantee style, fit, tailorship, drape, quality and general goodness. Yet, despite the high excellence of the suits, we are distributing them on the following price schedule:—

$12.75 for $20 Suits
$17.00 for $25 Suits
$19.00 for $30 Suits
$24.00 for $35 Suits
$29.00 for $40 Suits
$29.00 for $45 Suits

MEXICAN MURDERERS DESTROY EYES OF MEN THEY HAD SLAIN

Grisly Precaution Taken to Prevent Retention of Images of the Robbers.

TORREON, Mexico, June 18.—Tiburcio Garcia, a mail carrier between this city and Topia, a remote mining camp, and his brother, Juan, were murdered by robbers yesterday. The clew to their murder was given by their horses, which, after their riders had been shot, galloped back to Torreon.

Both men had been shot in the back, and the robbers, in the belief that dead men's eyes retain the photographic impression of the murderer, had dug out the eyes of their victims.

Epworth Rally Monday Evening.

The St. Louis Epworth League Union will hold a "Pertle Springs Rally" Monday evening at Scruggs Memorial M. E. Church, Cook and Spring avenues. The purpose of the meeting is to increase the St. Louis delegation to the State Convention at Pertle Springs on July 13-16.

CZAR AND KAISER, CLINKING GLASSES, PLEDGE FRIENDSHIP

REVAL, June 18.—The toasts exchanged between Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William at the banquet on board the Russian imperial yacht, Standart, last night, were cordial in their expressions for good relations between the two countries.

"I assure your Majesty," said the Russian Emperor, "that I cherish the sincere and unchanging wish ever to maintain the traditional relations of hearty friendship and mutual trust that always have united our two houses, and the cultivation of which I strongly desire, not mearely as a pledge of the good relations of our two countries, but of the general peace."

In reply, Emperor William said:

"I am rejoiced to see in this hearty reception a new and valuable confirmation of our sincere personal friendship. I see in it also fresh confirmation of the traditional relationship of cordial friendship and confidence which, corresponding to the manifold interests and thoroughly peaceful sentiments of our two countries, exists between our governments."

MYSTERY CLOAKS THOSE BACKING LIGHTING SUIT

Jeptha D. Howe, Who Has Retainer Fee, Does Not Know Who Client Is.

MAY ASK ASSOCIATE

Hopes It Is Harriman, for the Bigger the Party the Better, He Says.

While it has been learned that Jeptha D. Howe and Lon O. Hocker inspired Circuit Attorney Jones, Howe's brother-in-law, to file a quo warranto suit against the West End Light and Power Co. (a possible competitor with the Union Electric monopoly), the party or parties for whom Howe and Hocker are acting remain a mystery.

W. Hall Trigg, an attorney, who, as trustee for property at Newstead and Laclede avenues, has been fighting the West End company since it applied to the Board of Public Improvements for a permit to string wires, said Friday that he did not know whether Howe and Hocker were acting for him.

He also refused to say whether the Union Electric Light and Power Co. had offered to bear any part of the expense of his litigation against the West End company.

Hocker is out of the city and Howe told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he was ignorant of the identity of the parties who wanted the quo warranto suit brought. He said he was employed by Hocker as an associate counsel, that he had been paid with Hocker's personal check and that he had not asked or cared by whom Hocker was employed.

May Ask Who Client Is.

"The time may come," he said, "when I will ask who Mr. Hocker's client is. I have only been paid a retainer fee and I would have to know who I was working for and his ability to pay before I could decide what the remainder of my fee is to be. Of course, Mr. Hocker and myself will go to court when the suit is tried.

"The bigger the client is the better I'll be pleased. If it's the Union Electric company, so much the better. It it's Harriman, whom I have represented, I shall be glad. I am out of politics and devoting myself entirely to my profession, of which I always have been enamored, and I am ready and willing to take any cases of this kind.

"I understand that there are a number of these spurious electric companies and that the Mayor is thinking of proceeding against them. If anybody wants to pay me a fee to investigate and sue any of them I'm ready and willing. I'm just as willing to proceed against the Union Electric company as any of the others."

A Post-Dispatch reporter saw Trigg Friday and asked him if he had authorized the quo warranto suit. He replied:

"My connection with the proceedings against the West End Light and Power Co. has been simply this:

"I am trustee for property at Newstead and Laclede. The income from that property is to be enjoyed by Mrs. Bertha S. Freeman of 411 North Newstead avenue and her daughter, Miss Bertha B. Freeman, during Mrs. Freeman's life. Then it is to go to the daughter. There are four residences on Newstead avenue, three on Laclede and a drug store at the corner, all of which are vested in me as trustee.

Opposed Grant of Permit.

"When I was served with notice that the West End company was applying for a permit to erect poles and string wires on Newstead avenue, I went before the Board of Public Improvements on the day set and opposed the granting of the permit.

"I acted on my own volition for the protection of the property, as I thought Newtsead avenue was bearing already more than its share of such burdens, and I didn't want the property depreciated by anything more of the kind.

"It would not have been just proper for me, for several reasons, to have brought a suit. So I employed Mr. Hocker. I told him I wanted him to stop the erection of those poles and wires, but not to bring any suit that he didn't think he could back up in court. That was the substance of my instructions and everything was left in his hands.

"An injunction suit was filed and a temporary injunction denied. I saw Mr. Hocker in an elevator a few days afterward and mentioned the fact that the injunction had been denied. He told me though that he had another way to proceed. He didn't say whether that was by quo warranto and, as I haven't seen him since, it wouldn't be proper for me to hazard a guess as to his acting for me in the quo warranto suit. I went to see him yesterday, but he was out of town."

Sued on Own Initiative.

The reporter asked Trigg if the Union Electric Light and Power Co. or the Laclede Gas Co. has assisted him in any way in his suit or had inspired it. He said that he had brought the suit on his own initiative and that it had not occurred to him until after the suit was filed that a decision in his favor might benefit the Union Electric company.

"A gentleman I afterwards understood to be an attorney for the Laclede Gas Co. furnished me with certain evidence," he said, "but I do not care to tell his name."

"Will either the Union or Laclede companies bear any part of the expense of your litigation?" he was asked.

"I have no contract to that effect," he replied.

"Have you had any offer of that kind?", he was asked.

Would Welcome Help.

"I decline to answer that question," he said. "You don't suppose that I would refuse it if I had, do you?"

Then he added:

"It may be that, having an interest in the matter, the Union Electric Light and Power Co. has offered to pay a part of the expenses—but I don't know that such is the case. The expenses of the injunction suit have not been paid and I don't even know what they will be.

"If Mr. Hocker is receiving a fee from the Union company he may make his charges against the Freeman estate smaller on that account. But that is only a matter of speculation on my part. I don't know anything about it."

Trigg denied that he, personally, had or would receive "one cent" from the Union Electric Co. He said his sole interest, personally, was as trustee for the Freeman property.

LEG OF LAMB GRAFTED ONTO MAN TO REPLACE BROKEN BONE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 18.—A rare surgical operation, the outcome of which will be watched with interest by the medical profession, was performed at Frances Willard Hospital today, when a section of bone from the leg of a lamb was grafted into the right leg of Docearl Townsend to replace a section of shattered tibia.

Townsend is an elevator operator and was taken to the hospital several days ago after an accident in which he suffered a compound fracture of the right leg. Amputation was at first decided on. Later Dr. Cassius C. Rogers was called in consultation and it was decided to try to graft a bone from the leg of a healthy lamb.

Surgeons of Chicago asserted today that this was the first time this operation had been attempted in America and that it never had been attempted more than four or five times before.

MORRIS ESTATE PAYS $183,844

CHICAGO, June 18.—Cook County was enriched $183,844.31 yesterday when a check for this amount was paid to the County Treasurer from the estate of Nelson Morris as inheritance tax.

This is in accordance with the appraisement made by order of Judge Rinaker in the County Court. It is the largest amount ever paid to the county as an inheritance tax. The total value of the estate was placed at $14,708,427.76.

On File in the City Register's Office of St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS Mo., May 21, 1909.

State of Missouri, City of St. Louis, } ss.

Personally appeared before me, a Notary Public, in and for the City of St. Louis, Mo., W. C. Steigers, Business Manager of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who deposes and says that the regular editions of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for the first four months of the year 1909, after deducting all copies left over unsold, spoiled in printing and unaccounted for:

Averaged Daily - -	167,541
Averaged Sunday - -	272,707
Averaged Daily and Sunday Combined - - - -	182,131
Full and Complete Papers
Average Daily Gain of -	4,735
Average Sunday Gain of -	8,466

Over the corresponding period of 1908; and further, that the sales of the Post-Dispatch in the City of St. Louis exceed by many thousands the number of homes in St. Louis.

W. C. STEIGERS, Business Manager.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 21st day of May, 1909.
(Seal) ADOLPH E. SCHMID, Notary Public, City of St. Louis, Mo.
My term expires March 15, 1913.

HEARING SHOULD BE PUBLIC.

The refusal of J. F. Harms to have any part in a secret investigation into the truth of the charges he made against the East St. Louis packing concerns finds warrant in experiences of others. At a secret session Harms himself would be on trial rather than those he denounced as derelict. Moreover, various inspectors would hesitate to speak against or in criticism of their superior officers unless they were afforded the protection which only publicity can give.

Finally the public, the party most particularly interested, is entitled to know if "U. S. inspected and passed" is a positive or merely comparative guaranty. Is it an expression with degrees of meaning? The hearings should be public.

The Sheriff of St. Louis County won't send deputies to Creve Coeur because they would, he says, fall under the corrupting influences of the resort owners. Is that why the Sheriff doesn't go himself, or has he been there?

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

The old-age pension bill pending in the French Senate is an attempt to meet loud demand from the workingmen of France, but the committee report is against it.

It adds $160,000,000 a year to taxation, a burden which, it is said, is beyond the power of France to bear. It offers a pension so trifling that it may be called nominal and, in the opinion of the committee, it discourages thrift. The scheme is not big enough to be of real value to the superannuated workingmen and not small enough to escape severe censure as an ill-advised assumption by the state of a heavy responsibility.

A solution is promised of this general question—it is a world-wide demand—by an old-age pension bill just passed by the Massachusetts Legislature affecting the employes of the Boston & Maine Railroad, at the request of the company and employes. The fund is to be made up by contributions in equal parts by employer and employes, the former to make up the deficiency should any one payment fall below $200. The fund is to be managed by a board of trustees, and once established the scheme creates binding legal rights, securing the employes from loss and guaranteeing a return of money paid in to employes who leave the service before the age limit is reached.

This appears to be a practical method of meeting the situation. The State is not concerned except to see that legal rights are protected. It is applicable to all public service corporations chartered by the State and may be extended as experience demonstrates its merits. It is voluntary on both sides and it gives the employe an incentive to work instead of tempting him to be inefficient or a lazy hanger-on waiting for his share of the public bounty.

Germany, Australia and New Zealand have similar schemes which are said to have worked well in practice. If the problem is ever worked out in this country it will be along some such lines, which are purely democratic and do not involve any responsibility on the part of the Government or create a charge upon the public treasury. The French proposals seem crude and ill-digested in comparison with these well-thought-out plans.

Gov. Hadley's purpose to have the St. Louis and St. Joseph police departments investigated will scare the stenographers most.

A LIBERAL EDUCATION.

The published list of books recommended by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, which he believes will give any man the essentials of a liberal education, is remarkable for the books omitted.

Plays by Marlowe, Middleton and Webster are listed, but William Shakspeare is not mentioned. It may be, however, that Dr. Eliot means to have Shakspeare and the Bible taken for granted. Burke is not included, although he is the one English master of real politics, that is, statesmanship. A volume containing the two speeches on American affairs and the letter to the Sheriff of Bristol would give the reader a view and understanding of the principles of practical statecraft which can hardly be found in any other modern book. And what of Thomas Jefferson? Again, Browning's "Blot on the 'Scutcheon" is recommended. Most readers will prefer "Men and Women" for a profound and searching work. Tennyson's "Becket," yes; but why nothing of Wordsworth? And what of the historians? Do not Herodotus, Thucydides, Gibbon and Mommsen contain something essential to a liberal education?

The list is not complete, and it is hoped Dr. Eliot will "round it out" by adding a few books and perhaps by omitting some now included. No other man in the country can do more to raise the level of taste and point the right path to young men and women eager for the liberal education which comes of wise reading.

THE LATEST MERGER.

Jeptha D. Howe, weeping Republican boss, seems to have "retired" from politics to assume the graver responsibility of directing the economic destinies of St. Louis.

His frank confession that he was the instigator of the suit to oust the West End Light and Power Co. is confirmatory of the presence of a guiding hand in certain municipal activities which probably involve more of the natural elements than light alone.

It is threat enough that Circuit Attorney Jones should lend himself to a plan to destroy the first promise of competition for the undefendable lighting monopoly which has the city in its grip. The situation becomes more discouraging when it is shown that the effort to clear the microscopic obstruction from the path of monopoly is based on charges sprouted in the fertile brain of Howe himself.

It is complete vindication for the campaign predictions of the Post-Dispatch that there was a serious menace to the city in the relationship between Howe, the Republican boss, and Jones, the Republican candidate for Circuit Attorney.

At every point in its progress toward competition in the lighting business this budding West End company has been met by opposition. This opposition, direct and open, in the beginning, became later indirect and mysterious. The lighting monopoly seemed to have found allies in unexpected places. Circumstances and individuals joined to work in its behalf until finally light was thrown on the mystery and Mr. Howe was discovered traveling the worn path to the Circuit Attorney's office.

Mr. Howe and Mr. Jones seem to have formed a combination in restraint of competition for the Union Electric Light and Power Co. Next to the chewing gum trust, this is the latest merger.

Gov. Hadley's official notice to President Laird of the St. Louis Police Commission to investigate conditions in the department for the purpose of ascertaining if they should not be investigated is apparently a bit of press agentry. It surely is not flattering to the commissioners who should know, if they do not, what the conditions are, and it is neither just nor dignified to cast suspicion on the whole police force when the only apparent basis for believing there are abuses is the discovery of abuses in Kansas City. On that theory every time any police department anywhere develops viciousness, St. Louis should order an investigation. But why doesn't Gov. Hadley conclude the Hallen case? There was a specific instance.

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH.

Had the village blacksmith of Berwin, Neb., studied the work of Darius Green, the first aviator who had confidence enough in his own idea to risk his neck for it before knowing whether it was a good or bad idea, he would not now be nursing his bruises. Darius discovered that alighting was an essential part of flying, but he had overlooked it entirely. So did the village blacksmith, whose courage is beyond all praise, or would be if it had contained discretion, the better part of all species of real courage.

But this crazy experiment is not exactly a joke. The village blacksmith is thinking. So are a thousand and one other men, all over the country. Since the Dayton bicycle repairers demonstrated the possibility of flight in heavier-than-air machines bank presidents, doctors, office boys, blacksmiths, clerks, carpenters—men of all sorts and conditions—have been thinking hard on aerial flight. And from all parts we hear of experiments with all sorts of aerial craft.

Out of it all will come progress. Most of the "ideas" are probably impractical dreams, with no footing on scientific ground, but somewhere something practical will emerge, either as an entire original idea or as an improvement on the Wright and Herring plans.

However laughable may be the Berwin man's adventure—let us rejoice that it was not mournful—he is not to be despised. He is one of the many who are looking forward and upward, one of the throng out of which will come the man whose name will be written on the roll of great inventors who lift the world out of ruts and give a new direction to progress and human betterment.

The New York papers, except the World, have everything from grave doubts to panicky fears of the tax on corporations. It is the hit bird that flutters.

WHERE ARE THE JINGOES?

Beyond short statements of the facts in the newspapers, the strike of Japanese laborers in Hawaii has excited no notice and little interest. From Hobson there has been no fulmination and the jingo spirit seems dead. It is an astonishing variation from the talky excitement caused by the California school episode.

The reason is doubtless found in our familiarity with strikes and the lesson experience has taught. We have liberally discounted the wild stories of a Japanese conspiracy to seize the islands and, reflecting that the strike was probably caused by real abuses, we take the conspiracy tale as the product of an effort of the employers to foment trouble. The relations between Japan and the United States are too cordial to be broken by such causes.

Police court justice is a brother of lynch law. The right of search claimed by wives who want change left in husband's pockets has been upheld often. Now a Chicago judge decides that a woman is justified in hitting a man in the eye when he accidentally steps on her foot.

The reform House of Delegates does not incline to reforming unsanitary bakeries. Dr. Walker might aid if he could gain support for a bill creating more offices which only doctors may fill.

"Nothing is impossible" is the motto of the East St. Louis High School graduating class.

Friends of the free bridge will be cheered by this optimistic message.

Department stores employ models who call the donning and displaying of gowns work. Even as Mrs. Gould, they never wear the same gown twice.

The brother-in-law act may be profitably performed, but not with credit to the brothers-in-law.

King Edward has the postcard craze. This brings him closer to many million Americans.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Brother-in-Law's Activity.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Recently an owner of property located at Newstead and Laclede avenues brought an injunction suit to prevent the West End Electric Light and Power Co. from stringing its wires in the street at that point, claiming that the company's franchise was void. It seemed very strange to most people that any owner of property would be sufficiently interested or be damaged enough by the mere stringing of a few more wires in the streets in front of his property to induce him to employ an attorney and go into expensive litigation to prevent it. But that suit was decided by our Circuit Court in favor of the lighting company, very much to the gratification of the general public which welcomed the prospect of a competitor to the trust which now monopolizes the streets of this city, and charges such exorbitant prices for the services it renders the public. But the Circuit Attorney has now stepped into the limelight and filed a quo warranto suit for the purpose of having the charter and franchises of the West End Electric Light and Power Co. forfeited and cancelled. This, in the face of the fact that the City Counsellor, the city's chief law officer, has recently instructed the Board of Public Improvements that the franchise of this company is legal and valid, and that it is bound to recognize it, and to grant permits to the company, and that acting under that opinion, permits have been granted, and the company has incurred large expense in preparing to furnish the people of the city with electric light and power. What is the cause of this activity on the part of our Circuit Attorney? Is he so well pleased with the outcome of his interference in the railroad rate litigation that he feels impelled to seek new laurels?

It is also stated in a morning paper that Mr. Jones is of the opinion that our Board of Public Improvements has no authority to grant permits to such corporations—that such permits to use the streets can only be granted by ordinance. When did Mr. Jones make this momentous discovery? All our city counsellors, both Democratic and Republican, have heretofore uniformly advised that such permits should be issued by the Board of Public Improvements, and the charter and ordinances seem to clearly so provide. What great light has dawned upon our Circuit Attorney?

INQUIRER.

Teachers' Salaries.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Facts and figures from the semi-quarterly payroll: Principals average $2144 per annum; kindergarten directors, $776.02 per annum; kindergarten assistants, $486 per annum; janitors, except the maids, who are poorly paid, average $818.50 per annum; grade teachers, including head assistants, first and second assistants, average $850 per annum. Mr. Blewett is quoted as saying that since the first advance in salaries was made the principals have received only 25 per cent, while the assistants have received 50 per cent increase. This is only partially true. The former third assistants, promoted to second assistants, received 50 per cent increase; the second assistants 31 per cent increase; the head assistants 37½ per cent increase. It requires no great skill in arithmetic to figure out an average increase of 37½ per cent for these four classes of grade teachers. The grade teacher works 10, but she lives 12 months. $850 divided by 12, equals $70.83 per month, $19.17 less the wage paid Mr. Anthony Ittner's chauffeur by the Board of Education. The chauffeur learns his business in six months; the teacher learns hers in seven years. Let the taxpaying public compare the wages of the chauffeur, the janitor and the educated woman and draw its own conclusions.

MORE ANON.

No Jesting Matter.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In answer to the question, Are the dead alive, I answer they certainly are, and very much so; but to the addle-headed minds of most mortals this important question is but an opportunity for some crude jest, or for an exhibition of ignorance. The flint and steel, the candle of our grandmothers, the day of the log hut and dirt floor belong to the past; they have been relegated to the background as things no longer fit for present needs; likewise this absurd prejudice against the teaching of truth regarding the status of the human soul after the change called death, must die, because it cannot withstand the innate and intense longing of the soul for truth, which will prove that to each human being belongs the right to live now and hereafter; that to each one clings the deeds or misdeeds that have made their life on the earth plane either fortunate or unfortunate. With the soul at death goes memory and a full responsibility for all the acts committed, and each one must work out his or her own salvation with such assistance as they can secure from the great host of spiritual beings who likewise once lived upon the earth as mortals, and as everyone must some day enter that plane of the next life would you not think mortals would manifest some interest in the region supposedly awaiting all who die?

A SPIRIT.

Creve Coeur Lake.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your editorial in last Saturday's (June 12) Post-Dispatch on "Creve Coeur's Possibilities" was, indeed, timely and very much "to the point." St. Louis, though situated on the western bank of the "Father of Waters," is sadly handicapped for the lack of safe, accessible water resorts. Creve Coeur Lake, though about twenty miles distant from the city, is readily accessible via the United Railways and two steam railway lines. Other conditions being equal, Creve Coeur could be made one of the most beautiful spots in this country and a place where our women and children could spend a day, an afternoon or evening in perfect safety and enjoyment, but as you say, "Beautiful as are its surroundings, it is a rowdy resort and particularly undesirable at the times it would be most attractive. For the situation the United Railways is chiefly responsible." I would like to add the St. Louis County government as co-respondent to the indictment. The United Railways, being practically a county line, I would suggest that the company "pick its men" and have each conductor "sworn in" as a deputy sheriff, so that he will have authority to arrest for drunkenness, rowdyism or unseemly conduct. If the United Railways will do nothing in the matter, there is a good opportunity for some enterprising syndicate to get control, beautify, embellish and reap the harvest which is soon to come.

St. Louis.

WHEN ONE IS BURIED ALIVE.

From the New York World.

Even his victims may sympathize with the Chicago bank wrecker on his farewell visit to the city parks before going to the penitentiary. When he regains his liberty men may be flying as they are now motoring. The world will have moved, civilization advanced, and he will have had no part in it. There would be fewer tenants of prison cells if forethought supplied a tithe of the wisdom that comes with afterthought.

THE GILDED CAGE.

CONDITIONS IN ST. LOUIS.

Letter in the Chicago News.

"Born and reared in St. Louis," a woman correspondent makes the assertion that "to get to the second flats in St. Louis one goes to a long hall in the rear and up a flight of stairs and, as the halls are not lighted, it is a common thing to stumble over some tramp asleep in them." If the correspondent means by "the second flats" the downtown tenement houses, where the poorest class are glad to find lodgings, this is probably the case in many localities. But after a long residence in our city of notably fine houses and well-lighted and handsome flats with broad front entrances, I have failed to note any flats of the above description. We certainly have few crowded "apartment houses," and no dark, unlighted ones within my knowledge.

I well remember the contract between the old mayor and the gas company, when the electric light had to give place to the gas-lamp posts. But we were thankful for the end of the Ziegenhein reign and the return of the electric light. For years now the streets have not only been well lighted, but the alleys are thickly studded with incandescent lights.

Chicago. ST. LOUISAN.

WHAT'S THE MATTER IN CHICAGO?

From the Chicago News.

Our citizens send their surplus money to New York to invest in railroad stocks and bonds and neglect the opportunities at home. They will invest in the bonds of a debt-ridden city like New York in preference to our own bonds. They will send money to New York to invest in Consolidated Gas stock paying 4 per cent and neglect our own gas stock paying 7 per cent. It is the same with all other forms of property in Chicago. If charity begins at home, so also should pride. Onr newspapers give more space to New York and Boston investments than to our own. Our banks send their surplus balances to New York; our brokers give four-fifths of their attention to New York investments. I recently heard of a Chicago man who bought property in Detroit at a price approximately three times what similar property could be had for right here in Chicago.

WILBUR IN WAX WORKS.

From the Boston Herald.

Desiring to exhibit an effigy of Wilbur Wright in wax at Mme. Tussaud's exhibition, London, and have him shown sitting in one of his aeroplanes, the proprietor of the show finds that to accomplish his end he must pay $60,000 to the holders of the patent rights. Which is interesting for the light it sheds on the cost of aviation by the Wright apparatus. The controversy between John Tussaud and the patent owners is still on.

HIDE THOSE RIFLES.

From the New York Tribune.

Considering recent achievements in Venezuela and the benevolent interest of the United States therein, this would seem to be an uncommonly bad time for anybody in this country to organize or assist a filibustering expedition against that country. If any such deviltry is afoot it is to be hoped that it will be promptly and effectually squelched and those responsible for it punished to the full extent of the law.

THE KITTY.

From the Cleveland Leader.

Wives who look through their husbands' pockets for stray housekeeping quarters, will be interested in the statement that Mrs. Howard Gould received $75,000 in eight years for her domestic expenses.

ADVICE IS FOLLOWED.

From the Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

"The first duty of young women," President Taylor told the Vassar graduates, "is to learn to say no." And the marriage statistics of college-bred women show that they are doing it.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

THE OUTLOOK FOR APARTMENT DWELLING.

PERSONS who have been annoyed by phonographs and mechanical piano players in apartments will be encouraged to learn that indoor target shooting is to become one of the national pastimes, thanks to the gun silencer devised by Hiram Percy Maxim.

We have in hand a prospectus of this coming sport. The illustration is taken from it. "When provided with silencers," it says, "rifles can be fired inside a house in any room of suitable dimensions for target practice without creating the slightest disturbance in adjoining rooms." The bullets are fired into a box of sand immediately behind the target, and we are assured that even women and children may safely participate in this charming pastime.

We have heard a great deal of Mr. Maxim's invention—how it would facilitate assassination, stagger humanity, etc., etc.; but blessed if we thought it would strike home the very first thing. Doubtless the sport is going to be as harmless as the company which makes the silencers represents in its prospectus, but until we get used to it we can shudder to imagine such things as this:

Mr. Westend (reading in his apartment): Ouch!

Mrs. Westend (frightened): What is the matter?

Mr. Westend: I'm shot again. I wish the Thompsons shot better.

Or this:

Cook (rushing in from kitchen about 9:30 p. m.): I quit this fort!

Madam: Quit! Why?

Cook: Another admirer just shot in the foot!

Or else:

Father: I think you missed the target altogether that time, dear.

Mother: Yes, I shot through the wall just to the left.

Father (to son): Willie, open the hall door and see if we can hear any screams.

However, thinly partitioned as the apartments are, and badly as women and children shoot, we shall probably get used to it in time.

REDIVIVUS.

There was a great stir in the library.

"Moving?" asked the man who had happened in.

Nobody answered. Dusty books were brought out of corners, ladders were lifted to unused shelves, and the clerks plied the cloth and the feather duster.

"How about those golden sayings of Epictitus?" the Librarian asked.

"Here, sir," a clerk replied.

The Librarian smiled.

"I knew we had them stowed somewhere," he said.

A young lady advanced in a state of fatigue.

"Did you say that was John W-o-o-lm-a-n-n?" she asked.

"That journal?"

"Yes, sir."

"Yes," the Librarian said. "John Woolmann—Woolmann."

"I don't believe we have it, sir. I've looked everywhere."

An extremely triumphant clerk emerged from the depths of the library with an armful of dusty books.

"I've got some old birds here," he exclaimed.

The Librarian looked relieved.

"That's good," he said. "The Areopagitica of Milton, Johnson's Volphone, Walton's Compleat Angler, the autobiography of St. Augustine. Very good, indeed. Has anybdy looked in the storeroom?"

"I did," a clerk replied. "I found Sir Thomas Browne's Religio Medici and Marlowe's Dr. Faustus in there.

"Suppose you try that place again," the Librarian said. "I know we did have the meditations of Marcus Aurelius, and I think we used to have Beaumont and Fletcher's The Maid's Tragedy."

The dust rose in clouds and billows, and the man who had happened in was fairly bursting with curiosity.

"What in the world are you doing?" he asked.

The Librarian dusted his hands together and crossed two books from a list pinned to the wall.

"We're getting out the first installment of Dr. Eliot's essentials of a liberal education," he said. "It was like a voice from the tomb."

LOOKING IT OVER.

"Do you think the Busch syndicate will give us cheaper gas?"

"I think so."

"What makes you think so?"

"I figure it this way: The smaller our gas bills are, the more money we will have to spend for beer."

"But if the same man gets the money in the end, what difference does it make whether we spend it for beer or gas?"

"That's just the point I'm getting to: There is more profit in beer than there is in gas."

"I don't know about that."

"Don't you? All right, same six gas millionaires."

Nothing Suits Us.

"Ears are all right to hook spectacles over."

"Well?"

"But they interfere with these high collars that the girls want to wear."—Kansas City Journal.

S. A. M.—An "enlisted man" is one whose name has been placed upon the list of men of the army or navy.

H.—The engaged girl ought not to "go out with other fellows" without the consent of the man to whom she is engaged.

ROSE.—Send to the secretary of the Laclede Gas Co. any application for employment as book keeper for that corporation.

OLD HEN.—A baby weighing seven pounds at birth should weigh about 16 pounds when 6 months old; at 3 months, 17½.

CLARA.—In the sentence "I will bring the papers to you" the word "bring" is properly used, or one may say "I will take them to you."

ALICE.—Some of the courts hold divorce default days this month and next for June term cases. October term cases, latter part of October.

M. T.—Kreismann's plurality, 11,596. Hadley's plurality in St. Louis, 15,887; in the State, 17,462. Hadley vote in the State, 75,996; Cowherd, 60,108.

ROSE.—There are in the Union 46 States. The Territories are New Mexico, Arizona and Hawaii. Districts, Alaska and the District of Columbia.

S.—The law creating the office of Excise Commissioner in all cities of 200,000 inhabitants or more was passed in 1893. Wm. J. Stone was then Governor.

ELD.—We are not mind readers, being mere men. For any good and sufficient reason a bishop can authorize a priest to marry two Catholics at their home.

BASHFUL BETTY.—Ask your mother or some person who knows him, whether he is a person whom you might ask to call after having met him only twice.

R.—Mourning apparel should be left to women. Men who wear mourning band place it on the left sleeve. Wearing a band originated among English servants.

A LAD.—At Public Library, Ninth and St. Charles, you will find the city code and the Missouri statutes, which tell a great deal about the government of cities and counties.

P. G. R.—For green bugs, sprinkle profusely with white hellebore, or with powdered lime or with Scotch snuff. Soak the earth with weak lime water for eggs and larvae.

SCHOOLGIRL.—For a dime you can get a book of any dealer in tennis goods, giving tennis information in detail accompanied by a diagram of court and all the rules of the game.

ST. LOUIS.—Fortune teller or astrologist who, for a compensation, foretells the events of one's life, and not having a license, may be fined not less than $100 nor more than $200.

E. O.—First cable cars built for St. Louis in St. Louis were for the St. Louis Cable & Western Road, which in 1885 bought the narrow gauge steam road and became the Suburban. First cable car was operated in 1886.

FRED.—The Illinois law forbids the sale of deadly weapons to minors and the carrying of weapons that are concealed. If your "gun" is where it is plainly to be seen, the law would not apply to it. Slung-shots and metallic knuckles are prohibited.

AGNES AND ANNA.—We don't know where the cowboy-girl ranches are. Some of these ranch owners might know: Miller Bros., Bliss, Ok.; ex-Gov. James B. Grant, Denver, Colo.; Senator E. M. Ammons, Littleton, Colo.; Zach Mulhall, Mulhall, Ok.

RINGER.—The quoit rules of 1889 require heads of pins to be an inch above the ground and 18 yards apart. Pollok gives this rule: The distance from pin to pin shall be as agreed; the player shall stand level with the hob and deliver his quoit with the first step.

SAD.—Providing common law wife can prove that she was such, she will no doubt be successful in a claim for dower in her common law husband's real estate. In his personal property consisting of cash she can claim one-half, subject to payment of his debts, if no children.

M. E. M.—By consulting by-laws in pass book of building association the same will enlighten you on the matter. Stockholder has voice in affairs of company on such matters brought before the meeting of stockholders, in person, or represented by proxy. We question the right of any society to hold shares of stock in a building and loan association, which, we take it, you mean.

NOSE.—We know of no home remedy for large nose. Here is a formula: Half a dram muriate ammonia, 1 ounce glycerin, an ounce and a half orange flower water and a quarter dram tannic acid. Wet a piece of absorbent cotton and bind on the nose at night. During the day bathe the nose often with a lotion of 3 ounces mallow water, 2½ grams benzoate soda, 10 of glycerin and 5 of alcohol. (For blackheads see Answers June 11.)

LILY.—Mildew: Rub and scrape a little common yellow soap on article; then a little starch upon that. Rub well and place in sunshine to bleach. Lemon juice and salt are also effective if the spot be stubborn. One of the best remedies is a mixture of buttermilk and salt. A thick paste is formed and rubbed over the stained portion of the garment. Lay it in the sun for a day. Renew paste every four hours, and repeat next day if necessary.

NAUGHTY EYES.—A person's ears burn because the blood vessels supplying them are unduly dilated; this dilation is caused by a slight nervousness and is very similar to that which causes blushing. The remedy for this condition is, if sufficiently severe to consult a neurologist. The burning of the ears is supposed to indicate that people are talking about you; the left ear, bad things; the right ear, good things. This silly old adage has given rise to another frequent query: "People who listen at keyholes will hear things to make them think ill of me."

The Right Use of Dress.

A Short Sermon on the Sins of Fashion. Written for the Post-Dispatch

By REV. MADISON C. PETERS

THAT we should all be clad as beautifully and as gracefully as possible is proved by the fact that God has put robes of beauty and glory upon all His works.

Every flower is dressed in richness; every field blushes beneath a mantle of beauty; every cloud is a shadowy reflection of beauty; every sky is studded with stars, and every star is a blazing face of beauty; the fallen leaves are jeweled with dripping dew; the thunderstorm has tied about it the beautiful ribbon of the rainbow, and even the black smoke ascends in outlines of indescribable gracefulness.

The love of beauty belongs to every woman. A sloven is an abomination. Rudeness is sin.

Excess is what I inveigh against.

The prevailing spirit of extravagance is making more defaulters than any other one thing. Many a man has given up all high ambition for study, for self-denying service of his fellow men, stifled the voice of his conscience when it demanded sacrifice, and devoted himself to the one object of gaining, by hook or crook (and either of them is far from being straight), the wherewithal to keep sunshine in his house by the unlimited indulgence of a fashion-pampered woman's fancies.

Dress has sent many men to the penitentiary.

Benedict Arnold proposed to sell his country to get money to keep up the extravagance of the home wardrobe.

Many a poor girl, bewildered by the applause which greets her pompous sisters, concludes that the world loves ornament and display above character and disposition, and soon is wrapped in style—at too high an expense.

Faust's casket of jewels—who shall count the Marguerites it has slain?

Fashion dwarfs the intellect and eats out the heart of our people. Genius dies on its luxurious altar. Talent withers in its voluptuous embrace. Goodness gives up the ghost at her nod. It has made society a great showroom, hollow and insincere.

Fashion kills more than the hardships of poverty. The shop girl sees two generations of her fashionable sisters fade away. The washerwoman, with scarce a ray of hope to cheer her in her toils, lives to see her fashionable sisters die all around her.

The cook is hearty and strong, while the woman dressed like a doll, fed to order, must be nursed like a baby and kept from a hysterical fit by a sugar plum.

Adornment can never take the place of graces of character. If you will wear ornaments outwardly, see to it that there are pearls and diamonds within; and that for everything that is beautiful, either in hair or dress, there is something richer for the hidden life of the soul.

The devices of the toilet may disguise a bad complexion, but all the arts of a Jezebel cannot remove from her countenance the traces of pride, or paint there the sweet motherliness of a Hannah!

Life is not a toy to be played with, an ornament to exhibit, a bubble to float in the air, nor an insect to dance on the wave until some wind overtakes it. It is not a slow or dreamy indulgence, not a plague that wastes.

Life is a great gift of God, a single opportunity with possibilities vast enough to fill time and eternity with the beatitudes of God, the joy of angels and the praise of men.

A Last Farewell.

To be at the same time rude and polite is an achievement of great difficulty. A French gentleman who had finished his holiday in England, and had just paid a very large hotel bill. He was indignant, but his native courtesy was unimpaired.

"Send ze proprietaire to me," he said to the waiter, and presently the host entered.

Monsieur was all smiles.

"Ah, let me embrace you!" he cried

"But why do you want to embrace me, sir? I don't understand."

"Ah, saire, but look at ze beel!"

"Your bill! Yes, but what of it?"

"Vot of it? Vy, it means zat I s'all nevaire, nevaire see you again, saire."—Youth's Companion.

Meat Loaf Recipe for Large Company.

THIS recipe makes delicious meat, as has been proved by frequent experience: Twenty pounds of beef, two pounds of salt pork, one pound of butter, one pound of crackers (rolled fine), one quart of sweet milk, two teaspoonfuls of pepper (heaping), three tablespoonfuls of salt and 15 eggs. Put the beef and pork through the meat chopper, add the seasoning, the eggs well beaten, the crackers and milk; mix all thoroughly, and bake two hours in common bread or cake tins. This will make five or seven loaves, according to the size of the tins. This is nice for church suppers.

To Iron Pongee.

WHEN laundering any article made of pongee, iron it without first sprinkling it, and you will find it looks far newer and silkier than when dampened and ironed in the usual manner.

To Keep Light Dresses Clean.

MAGNESIA may be obtained either in powder or in square cakes, and it is very effective in cleaning laces and delicate fabrics. Sift or rub it on the parts to be cleaned, and lay them away in a box or drawer where they will be undisturbed for a day or so, and then shake them out. It is a very good plan to apply the magnesia in this way when putting away party dresses that have become slightly soiled. The magnesia absorbs the dust, and when you take the dresses out to wear them the next time, they will be fresh and dainty. The magnesia is also effective, when applied in the same way, for removing grease spots.

For Cleaning Wall Paper.

TO clean wall paper use the following recipe: Ten cents' worth of liquid ammonia, 10 cents' worth of oil of sassafras, one teaspoonful (even full) of soda, two teaspoonfuls (even full), of salt and one quart of cold water. Mix the cold water with the ingredients, then add white flour until it is thick enough to drop from a spoon. Put in a covered pail, set in a kettle of boiling water, and cook until done, stirring often. If it does not stick to the hands when cool, it is done. Remove from the pail and divide into "loaves," working each piece awhile in the hand. Take out only what is needed, leaving the rest covered in the pail, to prevent the ammonia from evaporating. Rub the wall with a loaf, working the dirt into the dough. When very dirty, exchange for a clean loaf. This removes dirt and grease magically and leaves old paper as good as new when used carefully.—Woman's Home Companion.

DIARY OF A NEGLECTED BABY

A Rival Comes Into the life of the Infant. Recorded for the Post-Dispatch.

By BARBARA BLAIR.

SATURDAY, 5 p. m.

IT is only too true. My darkest forebodings have been realized. The beautiful woman whom I am hoping is my mother loves another. I KNOW. I have seen her, heard her voice. Today for a few brief agonized moments we breathed the same air, were sheltered by the same walls.

My rival has neither blue eyes nor yellow hair. She is innocent of dimples, and though she sometimes shows her teeth she has NOT an ingratiating smile. She has long, silky black hair, which she wears falling untidily over her eyes, a cold, pink nose and an unpleasant habit of sniffing at everything.

She has a most curious voice, very high and shrill, and talks incessantly, running excitedly around the legs of the person she is talking to, so that it is quite impossible to ignore her.

My mother, or so I shall call her, brought her in to see me today. My mother carried her tenderly in her arms, and as she leaned over my crib allowed the strange little creature to lick her face with a long red tongue. Then she bent over me until this person's hair tickled my ears. I cooed pleasantly until, encouraged by my smile, my rival poked her nose in my neck and tried to lick my face, when I promptly seized my rattle with both hands and banged her firmly in the head with it.

She whimpered and turned to my mother for sympathy. What a weak, craven creature she is! Her tears were balm to my wounded soul and I kicked my heels ecstatically in the air.

One shoe hit my rival in the eye. She whimpered again. I gurgled with delight and smiled happily at my mother. Surely she could no longer prefer this shivering, whimpering, hairy little creature to ME!

I felt that I was looking unusually well. I had just had my bath and nurse had dressed me in my prettiest, laciest frock. A surreptitious glance in the mirror assured me that the three curls on the top of my head were becomingly arranged.

I smiled sweetly at my mother. I have a VERY attractive smile. It is not perhaps an open smile, but that is because I as yet have no teeth. Consequently it is a guarded smile.

I am sure, however, that is attractive, for I have heard it described as "perfectly dear." "Oh, see that darling little smile!" and "What a littlebittiewittieduckem of a smile!"

Being an intelligent infant, it is not possible for me to be unaware of my charms, for every woman I meet insists upon telling me about them—every woman, alas! except my mother!

Now she gathered my rival close in her arms and murmured endearing words in one of its ridiculous flapping ears.

Then, crying "Bad, bad baby! Poor, poor Fido!" she turned to go.

I could endure no more. My soul had been tried to the utmost. From under my mother's arm protruded Fido's agitated tail. I clutched it wildly with both hands, and holding on firmly I yielded as I never yelled before. My rival joined her voice to mine.

My mother screamed suddenly and dropped my rival. I learned afterward that she had buried her sharp teeth in my mother's wrist.

Have I won? Will she learn to love me yet? Or is she with her now?

Even as I write is that silky black head resting on my mother's arm? Is that long red tongue licking my mother's face? Are those foolish little paws laid on my mother's soft neck, where only baby fingers should cling?

Oh, how those words ring in my tortured ears: "Bad, bad baby! Poor, poor Fido!"

By CLARENCE L. CULLEN.

THE Summer Girl doesn't have to wait until autumn to have her fun stringing and trimming the Fall Guy.

Why is it that she WILL insist upon wearing such an aggravating seraphic smile over it when she tells you that she has decided not to leave you all alone in the hot, tiresome city this summer?

Maybe you've heard this: "If you could only realize how coarse and jowly you are becoming you'd quit traveling with those sots who think they're so wonderfully witty and clever!"

Extract from "The Diary of an Outraged Wife:" "Last evening at dinner I wore my new $36 set of puffs, and all he said, when he finally noticed them, was, 'They're all right; how much do they weigh?' I left the table in tears. The crisis approaches."

Then, too, some men permit their work to become coarse by overplaying their eagerness to have their wives spend the hot season out of town. There are a lot of wives who were not born last Tuesday week.

This is the beginning of the season when the women with the straight, moisty-wispy hair hates the woman with the naturally navy hair (the kind that becomes all the curlier under the impact of the sea breeze) with a vitriolic hatred.

What No Man Can Understand: How in the name of Houdini those "combination lingerie garments" so blithely pictured on the Woman's Page ever are put on or taken off after being put on.

Why is it that a blowsy-frowsy young woman in the violent heat of a tennis games makes one think of the same kind of a young woman riding a horse astride?

What They All Say: "Pooh! A woman can stand twice as much physical pain as a man!" (And they say it so often that they believe it.)

Humbly Submitted: That the woman who uses a liquid face enamel that settles on the face in streaks on a hot day shouldn't dress in a dark room.

The mother of the girl with the new silk Directoire bathing suit doesn't have to warn her angel cheild not to "go near the water."

There's something pathetic about the bovine boy of 25 or so who doesn't perceive that he is being strung when some dead-wise woman of 30 or so purrs to him: "It's so hard for one to carry on a conversation with such a blase, wicked, cynical man of the world as you are, really!"

When you tell her that she is "highly organized" and "supersensitive" she is so careful to live up to your analysis of her "temperament" that you have to put in a lot of time later on in soothing her out of imaginary spells of hysteria.

The young woman who lolls around in a sloppy kimono, reading a punk novel, while her mother irons her shirtwaists is the same girl who, when she gets her clothes on, brags languishingly in a company that fudge is the only thing she knows how to cook.

ECONOMY SOMETIMES SPELLS WASTE.

Do Not Be Penurious but Be Wise in Expenditure, Says This Post-Dispatch Writer.

By JOHN K. Le BARON.

ECONOMY and extravagance are very closely related.

Much economy, carried to the extreme, becomes expensive wastefulness.

To be an economist one must be both appreciative and discriminating.

It requires a keen judgement to know just where to draw the line between economy and prodigality.

Men seldom and women never are consistently economical.

A man will often save in purchasing a necessity, and while priding himself on his economy expend more than the amount saved on some foolish indulgence. That is not economy. It is the most asinine extravagance.

It is a mistake to think that being penurious is being economical.

The woman who economizes by buying a cheap fabric, and then to disguise it loads her dress with trimmings, isn't economical; she is simply foolish.

Wise spending is more representative of economy than foolish saving.

The real essence of economy involves judicious expenditure, the utilization of mental, physical and material resources, and saving where to save is profitable.

"Economy is a great revenue," says Cicero.

It is only a revenue, however, when it shows a net gain.

Much fancied temporary economy results in great permanent loss.

The cheap man always does things in the most expensive way.

Cheap help is a great extravagance. Bargains are apt to prove boomerangs.

Economy encompasses not alone that pocketbook commodity commonly called wealth, but the husbanding of time and energy and the conservation of minor factors in life's affairs.

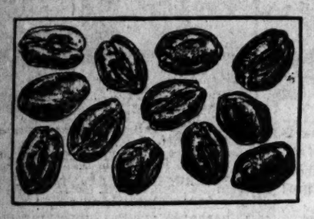

It is rarely that men addicted to such petty economies are any benefit to mankind. Guy was one of the rare exceptions. His private penuriousness was offset by most liberal public charity.

Wasted time is one of life's most expensive extravagances.

Tell Your Friends About Foods Shot from Guns

You who have tried Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice—who know these new delights. Tell others about them. Every friend you have would enjoy—like you—these crisp, gigantic grains. Please tell them how good they are.

All over the country, people are telling each other about the foods shot from guns.

Our increasing sales show that every morning some ten thousand new homes adopt them. The demand now exceeds, by considerable, a million packages monthly.

But think of the thousands who still cling to corn flakes, to biscuits—to the old-time ready-cooked foods.

They would change, as did you, if they only knew how delicious these new foods are.

The Foods of Today

These puffed foods, invented by Prof. Anderson, are distinctly the foods of today.

We make sixteen cereal foods, including all the old-time fads. So we have no bias whatever.

But we know the public taste. Three people in four, where all cereals are offered, take either Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice.

These are the foods that people want. They will adopt them as fast as they learn of them.

But people don't know what they miss until some friend says, "Try those delightful puffed foods."

How the Grains are Puffed

This is the curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Then the guns are unsealed—the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times—made four times as porous as bread. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. The result is crisp, magnified kernels of grain.

The Digestible Foods

Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are curious, crisp and enticing. But the best fact is that these foods are digestible.

The starch granules are literally blasted to pieces, so the digestive juices act instantly. There is no tax on the stomach.

No other known method—cooking, baking or toasting—ever made cereal foods half so digestible.

It is good to know that the foods you all like best are also the best foods for you.

For Summer breakfasts, luncheons or suppers, these are the ideal foods. Serve with cream, or with fruit, or with a bowl of milk. People never grow tired of them—never seem to get enough.

SUCCESS JOKES.

THERE is an elder of a certain church up-State who thinks that things are only half done or not well started in which he has no voice. At a prayer meeting he offered thanks for the safe return from their vacation of the minister and his wife. With proper dignity and in a loud voice he said: "O Lord, we thank Thee for bringing our pastor safe home and his dear wife, too, O Lord, preservest man and beast."

With Rare Tact.

Mrs. A. was calling on Mrs. B., whose husband had recently committed suicide by hanging himself in the attic. Remembering her daughter's parting injunction to avoid the unpleasant subject, she steered the conversation into household channels.

"Are you doing your own washing now?" she inquired.

"No," replied Mrs. B., "not now. It is such cold work getting it on the line."

"Yes, it is," said Mrs. A., "but you have such a nice large attic to hang things in."

The Auto Strop.

When the train stopped at the little Southern station the Northern tourist sauntered out on the platform. Under a scrub oak stood a lean animal with scraggy bristles. The tourist was interested.

"What do you call that?" he queried of a lanky native.

"Razorback hawg."

"Well, what is he doing rubbing against that tree?"

"He's stropping himself, mister, jest stropping himself."

Courtship in the North.

The old Eskimo lit a cup of walrus oil and peered over the sealskin curtain.

"Aurora," he called sharply, "is that young man down there yet?"

"Yes, pa," answered the Eskimo belle.

"Well, I want you to cut him out, understand?"

"Er—you'll have to do it yourself, pa; he has been here so long he is frozen to the snow settee."

DOVES CERTAINLY ACT PEACEFULLY ON THE BASEBALL FIELD AND THE CARDINALS FIND THEM EASY

GOLF WONDER, GUY OLIVER, GOES TO PIECES BEFORE ICICLE-CALMNESS OF VETERAN RALPH McKITTRICK

RACING

DAHLEN ALL BUT WEEPS AT DOVES' WORK

Veteran Leader of Boston Unable to Put Baseball Sense Into Team.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

NO one seems so ashamed of the Boston baseball club as Bill Dahlen, the veteran, who performed in Chicago and New York in other years, and who is now intrusted as guide of George Dovey's trailing team in the National League. Bresnahan's scrappy Cardinals tore another victory from this team at League Park Thursday and Dahlen became so thoroughly disgusted in one of the weird moments of the contest that he threw his glove to the ground and lay down in the grass to wonder how much longer he must exist in this cruel world.

This utter disgust came in the seventh inning, when he, with two other players, collided in a laughable attempt to catch a pop fly back of second base. No one got the ball and the run that tied up the score went spinning across the plate, when it had seemed that at last victory was to come to the Doves.

The Batter, Bobby Byrne, raced to second, while these three players sprawled in the grass and looked at each other, and then, a moment later, Bob dashed clear home on a bunt, and that run won the game.

Dahlen was about ready to turn in his uniform after that and leave baseball alone forever.

The Bostons played through the game without making an error. That is, they made no mistake that the scorer could mark against them. However, the errors of omission were many. They did nothing they could dodge. Had it not been for a tall youngster named Beck, who is just breaking into the big league, and who comes from California, the Doves would probably have been shut out. This boy turned out to be a slugger of the old school and in the third inning drove the ball to the scoreboard for three bases, sending in two runs and scoring himself a minute later, when the next batter singled.

These three runs put the Doves two to the good and as young Mr. White was pitching, he who defeated the Chicago Cubs last week, it seemed the visitors were about to give the Cardinals a surprise. However, Roger's boys squeezed in one run in their half of the third, coming within one of the total held by Boston, and then the battle waged beautifully until the seventh, when the Boston players dropped tragedy and put on burlesque again. The bumping act, staged back of second base, let the tying run come home, and Byrne's race from second on Ellis' safe bunt won the victory for the home team.

Boston has gone out into the country to rehearse for the Saturday show, Friday being an open date. Dahlen took the club across the State of Illinois, over to Terre Haute, where, away from the prying eyes of major league fans, he hopes to win a game and at the same time teach the club a few new tricks.

Wee Bobby Byrne Startling Fans With Hitting and Base Running

BYRNE'S hitting and base running has featured several games at League Park lately. Bob makes the pitcher give him good ones. He's so slight of stature that the pitcher hasn't much to pitch to and Bob absolutely refuses to swing at bad balls.

In the fourth inning Boston gave a base running exhibition that set the crowd in an uproar. Dahlen was on third and Graham at second, with one man out and Becker at bat. Becker slapped a bounder to Charles, who shot the ball to Phelps so quickly that the veteran Bill tried to get back to third. However, he was tagged by Byrne as he slid in. Then it was discovered that Graham was already there, and this runner tried to get back to second. He chases up and down and finally slid into the bag safely, no St. Louis player being on hand to take the ball. But to his surprise he found Becker already camped on the bag. They both stood there and the ball rolled toward right field. Evans picked it up and tagged Becker and a double play had been executed.

White, who pitched for Boston, has the appearance of a good man. He is young in years, and last season pitched in the same league with Walter Justus, the youngster who was tried out by the Browns this spring. White was taken from that league by the Chicago Cubs and then allowed to go to Boston. He is a big, strong boy, with plenty of speed and is an excellent fielder.

Boston's first baseman, "Chick" Autrey, seems to take baseball as a joke. Possibly that's because he is playing with the Boston team. Anyway he wears a smile no matter what conditions exist. He's tall and rangy and handles thrown balls exceptionally well.

The Cardinals were told to rest Friday with the exception of a bit of morning practice. Bresnahan doesn't care much about playing exhibition games in the small towns. Several of the nearby places wanted a game Friday, but with so few pitchers on hand Roger didn't care to give any unnecessary shows.

One can't help feeling sorry for Bill Dahlen. Those who watched him perform in his younger days when he was a star on the Chicago club at the time Capt. Anson was boss, or even later on the New York Giants when McGraw's team won the world's championship, never expected Bill would sink into burlesque.

More and Sallee are slated to pitch the Saturday and Sunday games against Boston. It is hard to see how the Doves can take a game of the series, yet some lucky break might turn the trick. They have played six games with Bresnahan's team this season and have lost six.

Outfielder Beck, who made the three-base drive to the score board, is a promising recruit, though yet very raw in his fielding. He hits the ball, though, and a fellow that can hit is always sure of sticking in the big league. Lush tried to slip over a strike on the first ball pitched, when the tall youngster came to bat in the third, but he was there to hit the first good ball that came his way, and that straight one was lined to the fence.

S.S.S. THE CURE FOR SCROFULA

The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands of the neck, sores and ulcers on the body, skin affections, catarrhal troubles, weak eyes, and general poor health. The inherited poison, transmitted through the blood, pollutes and weakens this fluid, and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter, which saps the vitality of the entire system. Thousands of children, born with a scrofulous taint, have spent their childhood in constant physical suffering, and grown to manhood or womanhood handicapped by ill health and stunted growth, and perhaps later some disease of the bones or joints developed. S. S. S., given in their early life, would have prevented this. It would have cleansed and purified the blood of the taint, nourished and stengthened their system, and assisted each to grow into strong, healthful manhood or womanhood. S. S. S. is the very best remedy for Scrofula. It goes down to the bottom of the trouble, and cleanses the circulation of all scrofulous matter. It supplies the weak, diseased blood with strength and health-building qualities, and under the purifying effects of this great remedy all symptoms of Scrofula pass away. S. S. S. contains no minerals in any form, and is an absolutely safe treatment for children, even infants, or persons of any age. Literature about Scrofula and any medical advice free to all who write.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18.—That the Browns are in need of more pitchers was again demonstrated in the Thursday battle of five innings against Washington. Young Bill Graham, who appeared to be in such excellent form early in the year, was batted out of the box, and Harry Howell, who followed, fared little better. The score was 5 to 1 in favor of the Senators, when a rain storm broke over the field in the sixth inning and saved the Browns from a worse beating.

Not one pitcher on the St. Louis club is going in good form. Rube Waddell manages to get away with a game once in a while, when his mates bat well behind him. Powell has been a failure for a month, and Graham and Pelty have both tumbled on the Eastern trip. Dinneen showed well in Philadelphia, and so did Howell, but Harry seemed to have nothing in the fracas here.

Eastern Trip Ends.

The game with Washington Friday will end the Eastern games for the Browns and they will leave on an early train for Cleveland, where they are to stop off to play one game Saturday, catching a train for St. Louis to play a double-header against Detroit on Sunday, and jumping back to Detroit again that night. On the trip so far, the Browns have won but three games and lost ten.

The Washington team held a most spirited batting festival Thursday, making nine safe hits in the five innings that was played. It is seldom a pitcher is batted out of the box at all by the Senators, and especially a left-hander. However, Graham seem to have nothing whatever to fool Cantillon's lowly players, and Bill got badly mixed once more in fielding bunts, that threw him into a tight place. Any time he gets in a tight place, he seems to lose half his speed, and all his curve.

Was Not Graham's Day.

But though he was in apparent trouble right from the start, he was permitted to stick in the game till the start of the fifth inning, when Browne opened with a single. Then McAleer took him out and put in Howell. Two runs were scored off Harry in that inning, largely due to a three-base drive by Unglaub.

Twice with Browns on the bases the batter hit into a double play. Their lone tally was helped along by a wild pitch. They seemed powerless to hit the ball to some safe spot when hits were needed.

WRAY'S COLUMN.

WHILE an army of scalp hunters are knifing the Boston National club, it may be pointed out that the team of Dahlen, Bowerman and Kelley has a legitimate excuse that other teams in the League may not offer in extenuation of its shortcomings.

It's impossible to make a vertebrate animal from a piece of putty. Boston has neither spine nor the stuff from which one can be developed.

But look at the Doves' nearest neighbor—the Brooklyn team. Surely there is one aggregation which ought to hunt out a secluded spot and spend the rest of life apologizing to its forbears.

As an owner, Mr. Ebbetts of Brooklyn could be excused for angrily removing the remaining hair left him by an indulgent constitution. He has a kick coming that would make a trip-hammer's work seem like a feather falling.

The Brooklyn team is no slouchy bunch of cast-offs. It has a pitching staff that has caused the eyes of Mr. Bresnahan to stand out in envy. It has three players batting over .300, two of them a great deal over. It has some trimmings for this setting that are surely acceptable, if not fancy. The team seems to have speed, and what in the world it lacks is a real mystery. The team should be fighting Cincinnati hard for its position.

No, it's not the disorganized, incompetent, mismanaged Doves that should be asked to shoulder all the odium of baseball—the worst team in the League is Brooklyn—for it has wasted the assets it possesses.

Plenty of Room for All.

O'FALLON PARK'S tennis courts are so greatly in demand that Commissioner Scanlan has had to shut off the issuing of permits, more than 1700 persons holding them already. But there is ample room for an overflow meeting out there in Forest Park in that deserted section which has been "restored" since the World's Fair. Here is level territory for all the tennis courts that an exercise-hunting city could use, with a few coveted baseball diamonds thrown in. The level nature of that district overlooked by Art Hill would make it a matter of inconsiderable expense to install and maintain tennis courts there.

St. Louis is inadequately supplied with means of adult recreation. Where other cities have public golf links, baseball fields and tennis courts in abundance, St. Louis has comparatively few of the last two, and no golf links. Golf is gaining great favor here, and with a public links would undoubtedly become a still more popular sport.

Tennis in St. Louis is better supported outside of tournament play, than in probably any other vicinity save Boston. Private courts abound all over the city, but these are entirely inadequate to supply the demand. The Triple A is the lagest tennis organization in the country, not even excepting the famous Longwood Club of Brookline, Mass. More tennis is played at Triple A daily than at any two clubs in the country, except on tournament days.

Forest Park once had public courts located where the Central High School baseball grounds now are. The establishment of a few courts on any level tract in the park would surely be a boon to those who have neither private courts nor the money to pay for club memberships.

New York is the first of the Eastern clubs to weaken under fire of the Western clubs. They'll all be gasping when these White Sox and Cleveland pitchers put on fourth speed.

After all it is likely to be the veteran golfers who will play off the final in the city championship at the Country Club Saturday. Stickney has still to beat the clever Normandie boy, More, who worked his way to the semi-final by steady golf playing. However, it would be little short of miraculous if he could defeat a steady and consistent man as Arthur Stickney has shown himself to be and it is the prevailing belief that the latter will meet McKittrick. Nevertheless the new material developed this year is encouraging and the showing of Oliver, More, Pierce, Walker and others leads to the hope that some sound tournament timber may result for future seasons.

RACING IN EAST LURES OWNERS TO QUIT WEST

Latonia Owners Prepare to Ship Strings to Sheepshead and Empire City.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The announcement that racing at the New York tracks will continue until early in November has caused prominent race horsemen in other centers, who feared the outcome of the new anti-betting laws here would kill the game, to change their minds and participate in the various meetings.

The local track managers have received word that such owners as T. C. McDowell, Rome Respass, Wm. Gerst, H. Betwell, G. Rieff, W. S. William, P. Dunne, W. F. Schulte and others now at Latonia are preparing to put their horses aboard cars within the week and ship them here in time for the opening at Sheepshead Bay, next Thursday. From the Canadian circuit will come William Garth, Thomas C. Lind, P. N. Civill, J. E. Ingraham, James Carruthers, William Shields and others.

Also some of the first-class jockeys will be here. They include Vincent Powers, E. Martin, Taplin, S. Page, J. Lee, A. English, McCarthy, Schilling and Goldstein.

This news is taken to indicate that the drastic anti-betting laws have not had such a severe effect on racing at the metropolitan tracks as was anticipated.

FORMER TROLLEY LEAGUER MAY JOIN THE GIANTS

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., June 18.—Capt. Adrian C. Anson of Chicago, supposedly representing Manager McGraw of the New York National League club, closed a deal late last night with President Rupell of the Beardstown Association, whereby the contract with the local's big outfielder, Kommers, who led the Illinois-Missouri League in batting last year, and is second in the standing, issued this year, goes to the New York club.

Stickney Is Expected to Reach Golf Final

FRIDAY'S MATCH.
Semifinal Round.
C. More vs. Arthur Stickney.

THURSDAY'S RESULTS.
Third Round.
C. B. More defeated L. A. Carter, 1 up in 19 holes.
Semifinal Round.
Ralph McKittrick defeated Guy Oliver, 6 up and 5.

UNLESS the totally unexpected happens, W. Arthur Stickney and Ralph McKittrick, two Country Club men, and who have been rated at the top in the local golf world for several years, will meet in the final match for the city championship title at the Country Club links Saturday, again bearing out the statement that it must be a mighty good young golfer who can win a championship in St. Louis.

Ralph McKittrick defeated Guy Oliver in the semi-finals Friday afternoon, 6 up and 5 to play. Mr. Oliver is one young golfer who made an excellent showing in the tournament. His play Friday was the poorest he has shown, and besides, he did not get any of the best of the breaks in the luck of the match. Mr. McKittrick also played his poorest golf of the tournament, but Mr. Oliver simply went him one better. On several occasions it was "to laugh" at some of their shots.

Mr. Oliver got off to a bad start when McKittrick laid him a stymie at the first hole. Mr. Oliver thought he could hole out, but unfortunately he sent Mr. McKittrick's ball instead, giving the hole to the Country Club man. The second and third were halved, but McKittrick won the fourth and fifth, and when the players were driving off for No. 12, Mr. McKittrick was seven up. He topped his drive home and the Triple-A player was given another life. The next hole was halved, however, which gave the match to Mr. McKittrick 6 up and 5 to play.

C. B. More won his second match by beating out L. A. Carter, 1 up in 19 holes. Mr. More is not very accurate with his driver, but he has no end of nerve. Almost all the way he was 1 up on Mr. Carter until nearing the eighteenth hole, when the latter's deadly approach shots pulled him up on even terms, and then two holes out in front. Mr. More, as usual, knuckled right down to business, rallied, and by some fine golf won the eighteenth hole, making the match even up. He then won the nineteenth.

Mr. More is a young player. He is short and stocky and lacks the experience or grace of W. Arthur Stickney of the Country Club, who will be his opponent in the semi-final match, Friday afternoon.

Looks Like Stickney.

The winner of this contest, whom it is almost conceded will be Mr. Stickney, will meet Ralph McKittrick in the 36-hole final match Saturday, 18 holes of which will be played in the morning and the other 18 holes in the afternoon.

There is no doubt but that Mr. Stickney has played the best and most consistent golf of any man in the tournament. Mr. McKittrick did well up to Thursday, and in every one of his matches his score was about Bogey 78. Wednesday Mr. Stickney got one 78 and in the qualifying round a 78. In his other games he did almost equally well.

There is something about the style of play and manner of Mr. McKittrick that causes many a star to crack in a hard match. Mr. McKittrick has always been noted for his nerve and care-free style of play while he keeps his opponents fretting by his easy and undeliberate manner of playing the hardest shots.

Last year W. Arthur Stickney was runner up to his brother in the final of the city championship tournament which was won by Stuart Stickney, W. Arthur proving the easiest kind of picking, although he had played in great form in all of his other matches. The final match is expected to bring out a big gallery if Mr. Stickney wins. As for Mr. More, few give him a chance, simply because of the almost tradition that a young golfer cannot break into a championship in St. Louis.

RECORD-BREAKING 107-MILE NON-STOP RUN

Over the Hilly Streets of St. Louis, on One Charge, by the Unbeaten and the Battery Still Good for Approximately Twenty Miles More.

BABCOCK ELECTRIC

Only "Electric" Certifying Its Tests by Disinterested Witnesses

The Car of Proven Results

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 15, 1909.
Babcock Electric Carriage Co.

Gentlemen: Every St. Louisan readily appreciates the importance of hill-climbing ability, as well as mileage and speed in an "electric," and as the representative of the Republic, under whose auspices yesterday's demonstration was made, I had one of the greatest surprises of my experience when your stock Electric Victoria negotiated the much-dreaded Manchester Hill at better than 20 miles an hour and accumulated speed as it ascended. This, besides making the round trip run from St. Louis to Valley Park, all on one charge of the battery, and with sufficient power left to duplicate its performance, will prove a revelation to those interested and the practical utility of the "electric" bearing the "Babcock" name.

Very truly yours,
ORIN V. DAVIDSON,
Editorial Department,
The Republic.

Twenty Miles an Hour Up Steep Manchester Hill

Faster Than Other Electrics Travel on Level Roads.

St. Louis, June 16, 1909.
Babcock Electric Carriage Co.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen—The rapid development of the electric automobile in the past two years, as demonstrated Monday in the speed trials on Skinker road of your Babcock Victoria, was an agreeable surprise.

It is not so very long ago that 15 to 18 miles per hour was about the limit for this type of power vehicle, so that the rate of 33 miles per hour, attained by your car, as shown by the speedometer, is remarkable, but the astonishing ease with which the car was operated and the high efficiency of the control, impressed the writer as being of even greater importance.

There seems little doubt but that the series of tests which you are giving in St. Louis is of value to the motoring public, and should lend much to a greater popularity of this type of motor car. Yours very truly,
The St. Louis Times.
TEMPLE EMERY JR.,
Automobile Editor.

St. Louis, Mo., June 12, 1909.
Babcock Electric Carriage Co.

Gentlemen—On the 100-mile nonstop run announced for today by one of your Victorias of standard equipment, and under the auspices of the Globe-Democrat, I am pleased to certify that the reading of the odometer, with which the electric was equipped, was taken at the beginning and the finish of the demonstration by a representative of this newspaper, and that it showed that 107.2 miles had been realized.

It is a pleasure to attest the correctness of this run, and you are to be congratulated on having developed a stock electric capable of such extraordinary mileage, for it is destined to fill a practical want for which the public has long waited. Very truly yours,
WILLIAM M. LEDBETTER,
City Editor Globe-Democrat.

St. Louis, June 17, 1909.
Babcock Electric Carriage Co.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen—I must confess to considerable surprise and must offer you my congratulations on the extraordinary mileage run of 107 miles on one charge of the battery, and the other equally remarkable demonstrations which your Babcock Electric Victoria has made in St. Louis during the past week.

The road to Valley Park is over hills of strenuous character, so that the making of this trip, and incidentally negotiating Manchester hill at better than 20 miles an hour, and with enough reserve power from the one charge to repeat the run, is a test of which to be justly proud.

I trust that so excellent and so unexampled a record may prove of value in pushing sales for your company. Very truly yours, R. E. LEE,
Automobile Editor,
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

TERMINAL WILL TRADE VIADUCTS FOR CITY LAND

Expresses at Conference Its Willingness to Bridge Mill Creek Valley.

WANTS A FEW STREETS

Railroads More Liberal in Bill to Be Presented to the Assembly.

Two viaducts will be built across the Mill Creek Valley by the Terminal Railroad Association if the city will vacate 17 acres of streets in and near the Ranken tract.

Willingness to provide the viaducts as a consideration for the grant which the Terminal Association asked and was refused by the last session of the Municipal Assembly was expressed by the association's president, W. S. McChesney, at a conference of the Terminals Commission, assemblymen, railroad officials and Mayor Kreismann Thursday afternoon.

Mr. McChesney said that if instead of the viaduct at Compton avenue it was later deemed more advisable to build one at Ewing and another at Ranken avenue, his company would bear the full expense.

The Missouri Pacific was represented at the hearing by J. A. Middleton and the Wabash by Henry Miller, but they did not second Mr. McChesney's statement. As both these roads are among the proprietors of the Terminal Association, they would indirectly pay each one-fourteenth of the cost of the bridges.

Bill to Be More Liberal.

A bill that will designate the area of streets to be vacated for the Terminal Association's use will be drawn by the Terminal Commission and submitted to the Assembly. It was announced that in its provisions affecting the city's rights, the measure will be broader and more liberal than was that which the last Assembly defeated.

It is expected that this bill will be ready for the Assembly by Sept. 15, but it may be presented sooner if the House and Council are called into special session during the summer to pass other legislation as now seems likely.

This proposal of the Terminal Association to exchange a new viaduct for the streets in and near the Ranken tract has been before Mayor Kreismann for several days. What was formally announced after the conference Thursday confirmed the Post-Dispatch's exclusive publication of the Terminal's proposition early this week.

At the meeting in the Mayor's office Thursday were Mayor Kreismann, City Counselor Walther, Councilmen Drew, Schnelderhahn, Schutz and Hauschulte, Speaker Rombauer of the House of Delegates, Delegates Hiltenbrandt, Mischel, Koch, Jacobs, Russell, Taussig and Eilers and Terminal Commissioners C. W. S. Cobb, Bert Lang, R. S. Colman, R. W. Shapleigh, J. D. Bascom and President Reber of the Board of Public Improvements, and W. S. McChesney, president of the Terminal Association, B. McKeen of the Pennsylvania, John A. Middleton of the Missouri Pacific, Henry Miller of the Wabash and H. J. Pfeifer, engineer for the Terminal Association.

ADVERSE REPORT ON BRIDGE MEASURES WILL BE RENDERED

Chairman and Two House Members Reach Decision Before Public Hearing.

Three members of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Delegates will submit a majority report against the passage of two free bridge bills in the House of Delegates Friday night. This adverse report will be signed by Chairman Taussig, and Delegates Russell and Holliday, two of his associates. The others of the committee—Paule and Koch—will recommend that the bills be passed.

This determination of Chairman Taussig and Delegates Russell and Holliday was reached Thursday, although a public hearing, supposed to be for the enlightenment and guidance of the committee, had previously been set for Friday afternoon.

One of the bills authorizes contracts for the erection of four piers at a cost of $550,000, and the other the condemnation and purchase of land for the west approach. There seems little likelihood that they will be defeated.

DEGREES WILL BE GIVEN TO 21

Christian Brothers' College to Make J. B. Kinealy a Doctor of Laws.

Degrees will be conferred on 21 pupils of Christian Brothers' College at the graduating exercises Friday evening at the Olympic Theater. The honorary degree of doctor of laws will be conferred on James B. Kinealy.

Mr. Kinealy will deliver an address to the graduates. Samuel J. Abscher of Maunie, Ill., one of the graduates, will speak on "St. Louis—the One Hundredth Milestone;" C. Franklin Stauf of St. Louis, on "A Man of His Age;" William A. Ratican of St. Louis, on "Fidelity of the Irish to the Faith." An orchestra and the college glee club will give musical selections.

St. Louisans Sail for Europe.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Sailing on the Frederich der Grosse yesterday were the following from St. Louis: Mr. August Ahrens, Harry Ahrens, Misses Minna and Margaret Drey, I. I. and L. T. Judd, Henry Lang, Henry Linneworth, Mrs. Caroline Linneworth and Mrs. Catherine Schaeffer.

Chorus of 70 Men Will Sing.

Special Dispatch to The American.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—It transpired that during the giving of testimony last week before the Solicitor General on the interesting question, "What is whisky?" a good many kinds of whisky were incidentally advertised, a well-known Tennessee brand receiving from Dr. Wiley, the Government food expert, the enconium that of all the whiskies he knew it was "the best and most honest." There was also considerable discussion as to President Roosevelt in a statement that he was unable to distinguish between blended goods and straight whisky. And it was incidentally observed that Col. Roosevelt took along with him to Mombassa five cases of a popular club brand as an antidote for the tsetse fly bite. * *

Will Have Million Names.

May 27 is the date that has been designated by the suffragists to have secured their million names for the mammoth petition to Congress. The 90th anniversary of the birth of Julia Ward Howe was celebrated in Boston the other day, but it is thought that the completing of this petition at this date would be as fine a tribute to her as anything that could be offered.

CASCADE PURE WHISKY

We suspected when it appeared that the above article referred to Cascade. Because we knew from the grain it's made of and the way it's distilled, aged and bottled and its rich, smooth mellowness that Cascade could not help but fit the description. So we asked the Nashville American about it. They wired their Washington correspondent as follows:

TELEGRAM

R. H. Watkins, Nashville, May 7, 1909.
Washington Correspondent The Nashville American, Washington, D. C.

In your dispatches last night to The American you quote the government food expert as saying that of all the whiskies he knew "a well known Tennessee brand was the best and most honest." A local distiller has requested us to ascertain if possible to what particular brand of Tennessee whisky did the food expert refer. If you can consistently advise, please answer by wire.

THE NASHVILLE AMERICAN.

They got a reply as follows:

The Tennessee Whisky referred to in my dispatches of May 6th is Cascade Brand. Signed, R. H. WATKINS, Correspondent.

"WARREN PLACE HEIGHTS"

Large Lots, 100x240

Only $50.00 Cash and $10.00 Monthly

"WARREN PLACE HEIGHTS" lies just west of the city, on the hill, overlooking beautiful St. Louis County, at the junction of Manchester and North and South Roads, about midway between Clayton and Webster.

Market Street Electric Line and Kirkwood Electric Line within two blocks.

WARREN PLACE originally consisted of 83 acres of beautiful high-rolling ground covered by splendid forest trees and shrubbery. Perfect natural drainage. This ground was subdivided into large lots of almost an acre each. On lots fronting on either the main roads or graded streets. County water mains pass both fronts, and gas mains now laid to the property. The Rock Hill graded public school only a short distance west.

A New Electric Street Car Line Now Being Built Through Warren Place.

About one-half of the lots have been sold, and twenty homes have been built. These people are now making garden and raising chickens.

This ground has rapidly advanced in value, and several of the early buyers have sold at good profits. The property is still advancing. These high-class lots have not been sold heretofore on the monthly payment plan, but owing to many applications from persons wanting to buy in this manner, the owners have consented to allow me to sell a portion of this property on the monthly payments.

$25.00 cash and $10.00 per month will buy a fine lot 50x240 feet.
$50.00 cash and $10.00 per month will buy a lot 100x240 feet.

Call at office for full particulars and plat of Warren Place.

Locates Easy Street.

From the Chicago Tribune.

Tommy: Paw, I've heard you talk about Easy Street. Where is it?

Mr. Tucker: It's at the farther end of a long, rough, and hilly thoroughfare called Hard Work street, my boy.

MRS. TAFT WILL BE WELL BY FALL, THINKS PHYSICIAN

First Lady in Land Slowly Recovering From Serious Nervous Breakdown.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Mrs. Taft is slowly recovering from a serious breakdown. While on the Government yacht Mayflower in the Potomac, May 15, she partially collapsed and was taken to the White House. The semi-collapse was the result of ceaseless and strenuous efforts to aid her husband.

These activities began several months before his nomination. When she became mistress of the White House she took personal charge of installing the household and also attended to the many details of the new social administration. She is a woman who understands the work and responsibilities of her husband and did not slight any of her wifely duties in this respect when he became President.

Extended Rest Necessary.

It was more than one person could stand up under and she went to pieces. Her physicians told her that it was necessary for her to take an extended rest. She gave up all of her social duties, turned her household over to others and ceased to try and keep in touch with the activities of her husband. She was very ill for several weeks, but her physician and her friends say that she is now showing the result of complete rest and is slowly recovering.

For a time she was compelled to remain in bed, attended by a nurse, but she now moves about the White House and occasionally sees a few friends.

One of the features of her illness was a nervous throat affection which made it difficult for her to talk. Her speech is now improving. Her physicians say that after the summer sojourn in Massachusetts, where she expects to lead a very quiet life, she lill have regained her strength and can in the fall take up in an active way the life of the first lady of the land.

MAYOR OLROYD CONCERNED ABOUT $28 IN BENBOW BANK

Attachments now adorn both sides of the front door of the People's Bank of Benbow City, Ill. Mayor Jim Olroyd, who stood by President and Cashier Stephen Moore when others refused to believe his story of a $3500 robbery by two armed men, has joined the ranks of the bank's detractors.

"I want to know what has become of trust funds which I deposited in the People's Bank," said Mayor Olroyd to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday, with an air of grave concern. "The funds of the Wood River Commercial Club were in the bank, and I consider myself and the secretary, W. M. Taylor, personally responsible for them."

"How much did the funds amount to?" he was asked.

"Twenty-eight dollars, sir," he replied gloomily.

The attachments show that two larger claims than the Commercial Club's are outstanding against the bank. Ike Goettler, one of the creditors, claims $300, and H. H. Haeussler, a Grafton banker, who cashed a certificate of deposit for one of the Benbow bank's customers, demands $500.

And Moore has not been seen in Benbow City, business men say, since one week ago last Saturday.

The Maryland Casualty Co., in which Moore carried burglary and robbery insurance on the bank, has not paid his claim. The claim, it is said, has not been pressed since the company, after an investigation by its inspectors, requested Moore to take oath, over his signature and in the presence of witnesses, to the facts of the robbery as he related them. He did not make the affidavit.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS' REPORTS OF THEIR SALES

Sale by Tombridge Agency.

A lot 75x125 on the east side of Minnesota avenue, between Gasconade and Osage streets, was sold by Tombridge Agency yesterday to Bernhard Ahrens and wife at $20 a foot.

Mount St. Edward Lots Sold.

The Nicholls-Ritter Realty and Financial Co. reports the sale of lots 13 and 14, in the subdivision known as Mount St. Edward, fronting 49 feet on the north line of Powers avenue, by a depth of 108 feet on Clara avenue, being the northeast corner of Powers and Clara avenues, for $1500. From John M. Conley to D. A. Sanguinet. Property will be improved with a new building. It has a small frame building on it.

Garfield Improvement Planned.

The Wade H. Bush Real Estate Co. sold 100 feet of ground on the south side of Garfield avenue, west of Union, from E. Ustick to R. Burns, who will erect four brick cottages to cost $10,000, which will be managed by the Wade H. Bush Real Estate Co. The Commonwealth Trust Co. represented Mr. Ustick.

Trade on Russell Avenue.

Eugene J. Altheimer reports the sale of 4138 Russell avenue, a two-story brick dwelling, containing eight rooms, bath, furnace and cabinet mantels, on a lot 25x122, from Julius H. Brinkmeyer and wife to M. Agnes Gallagher. The purchaser was represented by Hugh H. Stewart.

Kennerly Avenue Home for $1500.

The Korte-Rust Realty Co. reports the sale of 5637 Kennerly avenue, a one-story frame cottage, having four rooms and bath on a lot 25x120, for the account of George P. Fox to Henry and Emma Schennigmann, who bought for a home; consideration, $1500.

Realty Company to Reduce Stock.

The Mercantile Realty Investment Co. yesterday filed notice of intention to decrease its capital stock from $60,000 to $5000. In the statement filed the assets of the corporation are placed at $5000, liabilities none.

PIANISTS WHO ARE ON CONCERT PROGRAM

MARY J. McNAMEE.

DAUGHTER OF A SERGEANT OF POLICE AN HONOR GRADUATE

Will Remain at Strassberger Conservatory as Instructor After Commencement.

At the commencement exercises of the Strassberger Conservatory of Music at the Olympic Theater Sunday, a feature of the program will be piano solos played by Miss Mary McNamee, daughter of Police Sergeant Owen McNamee and niece of Capt. George McNamee.

She is an honor graduate and her teachers have prevailed upon her to remain at the conservatory as an instructor. Next season she will go abroad to complete her studies. Her home is at 2312 University street.

Miss Elsie A. Kaltwasser of 4307 Oregon avenue will receive a teacher's certificate. She also is a talented pianist.

RHEUMATIC TROUT CURED THROUGH SYMPATHY OF ALDERMAN IS GRATEFUL

Fish Shows Appreciation by Cavorting When Benefactor Is Near.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 18.—This is not a fish story in a popular sense of the term, but a truthful recital of well-vouched-for facts, and if any one does not believe it, he can ask the man who had the experience, John Koerner, a Milwaukee alderman, rather interested in baseball and West Baden trips.

A year ago, when Koerner was walking by a little stream above the springs, he noticed a large rainbow trout, feebly wiggling.

John had rheumatism, and he divined the cause of the fish's limp. He reached for the creature, which, seeing in Koerner a friend in need, allowed itself to be caught.

John took the fish to the hotel and put it in one of the springs, and when in a few weeks it became alive and spry, he turned it loose in the stream again, first marking it with a piece of silver wire.

This year John went to West Baden, he walked by the stream. He suddenly heard several splashes and some water fell on his shoe. There was his trout. It had recognized its benefactor.

Well and spry as ever, the fish leaped about to show its good condition, doing this every day when John appeared for his daily walk.

GIRL STENOGRAPHER WHO WAS SLUGGED TO MAKE STATEMENT

Miss Owen of Kansas City, Whose Police Investigation Notes Were Stolen, Recovering.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 18.—Assistant prosecuting attorneys are to visit the University Hospital today to take a signed statement from Miss Anna Lee Owen, the official stenographer in the police investigation, who was slugged early Wednesday night in her office in the Dwight Building and robbed of some of her notes.

Miss Owen's condition Thursday was such that her mother and the physicians deemed it inadvisable to permit her to be questioned to great length, as any excitement or worry, it was feared, might delay her recovery.

Late last night authorities at the hospital said Miss Owen was much improved and was resting easily.

Edward P. Boyle, inspector of detectives, said late last night that as yet he had no particular clew as to the identity of Miss Owen's assailants, but that he was still confident they would be caught.

"The $2600 reward will look big to somebody and the thug will be caught," he said.

ST. LOUISAN'S VIEW OF ECLIPSE OBSTRUCTED BY CHURCH SPIRE

The Rev. C. M. Charropin Uses Smoked Glass in Milwaukee to See Phenomenon.

The Rev. C. M. Charropin, S. J., professor of astronomy at St. Louis University, had a hard time trying to see the eclipse of the sun late Thursday afternoon, a press dispatch says. He was in Milwaukee, and had looked forward with eagerness and pleasure to a study of the phenomenon through the Marquette University telescope, but when he sat down to take a peep at the sun he found the spire of the Church of Gesu directly in his line of vision. He had to abandon the telescope and use smoked glass.

The Rev. Martin S. Brennan, professor of astronomy at Kenrick Seminary, said Friday that he had a fine view of the eclipse through the seminary telescope.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

WOMAN'S DEATH AVERTED CHARGE OF SMUGGLING

Mrs. Josefa Osborn, if Alive, Would Be on Trial, Says Federal Attorney.

PRISON FOR TWO MEN

Wife of One Fined $5000 for Bringing in Finery Without Paying Duty.

By Leased Wire From New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 18.—If Mrs. Josefa Osborn of Mrs. Osborn's Playhouse and Mrs. Osborn's Dressmaking Shop were alive she would be before the bar of the United States Court as a habitual smuggler, according to United States District Attorney Wise. But she died last November.

Mr. Wise mentioned her in this unpleasant way when William H. Kilgannon, his wife Elizabeth, and George G. White, his partner in the dressmakers' supplies business, pleaded guilty of smuggling in, in 1907, the three trunks containing gowns and dress materials. Kilgannon was sent to Blackwell's Island for a year. Mrs. Kilgannon was fined $5000 and White got two years in the Federal prison at Atlanta.

Mrs. Osborn's name came in when George Gorden Battle was asking for clemency for White. He said that White had worked his way up from a poor boy to a respectable position in life and had been employed by Mrs. Osborn and by Austin F. Montanye.

Bad Company, Says Court.

At that Mr. Wise told the Court that it was no credit to White that he had been in such company, in view of the fact that Montanye was at present serving four months on Blackwell's Island as a self-confessed smuggler and that Mrs. Osborn, if she had not the good fortune to be dead, would be standing at the bar of the Court in the same predicament as White.

"The Government has sufficient evidence," said Mr. Wise, "to convict jointly Mme. Osborn and White of a systematic scheme to defraud the Government in a long series of smuggling operations."

Mrs. Osborn had a dressmaking business at 24 East Forty-sixth street under the name of the Mrs. Osborn Co. until her death last November. She also had theatrical ambitions of the managerial sort and took over the Berkeley Theater, renaming it Mrs. Osborn's Playhouse. She had with her in this enterprise Miss Norma Munro. It failed, and a break in the friendship of the two women and considerable litigation followed.

Mrs. Osborn was reported to have married Ernest Lawford, the actor, in September, 1906, but this was never affirmed or denied. She left him the income of $75,000 in her will. Her first husband was Robert A. Osborn, from whom she secured a divorce in 1905.

Not for Two Years.

When Mrs. Kilgannon's turn came her counsel said she had done no smuggling in two years—that is, since the offense for which she was indicted.

"None of the Fifth Avenue dressmakers are quite as active in that business now as they have been," Mr. Wise retorted. He asked that a substantial fine be imposed on Mrs. Kilgannon. Mr. Battle interrupted to say that White had not been indicted in connection with the $52,000 lot and that it should not be dragged in.

"I do not know that White, and the Kilgannons had anything to do with the five trunks of goods valued at $52,000," said the District Attorney, "but I do know that the articles smuggled in by them were in part at least going ultimately to the same parties to whom some of those goods went."

He would not say afterward if he knew who were concerned in the $52,000 case. He did say that neither White nor the Kilgannons had furnished him with any information. They did not plead guilty at the solicitation of his office, nor were any promises of immunity made to them.

CARDINAL GIBBONS DECLARES AGAINST WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

Tells Girl Graduates the Ballot Would Interfere With Mission God Gives Them.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 18.—In an address before the graduates of St. Joseph's College and Academy at Emmittsburg, Md., Cardinal Gibbons told his position with regard to woman's suffrage and advised the girl graduates to put aside any ambition to vote.

"I am sorry to say," declared the Cardinal, "that I am entirely opposed to woman's suffrage, not that I hate the women, but because I love them and want them to fulfill the mission God intended for them. Nowhere are women so honored as in the United States, and this is due to the chivalry of the men. You want to be sure to retain your dignity, and if you are protected by the male sex, what more do you want?

"If you play in the arena of politics you will be covered with political dust. If you grasp after too much you will lose everything.

"Your mission lies largely in the domestic walks of life. If you embrace the religious life that is a great mission from God. As Sisters you must not expect to preach to those you come in contact with in the daily walks of life. In the church woman must be silent. This is not our fault but the fault of an old man by the name of Paul. (Laughter).

"There are places where you need not be silent. Woe be to society if it had to depend on the male sex alone. The world would go to the devil."

Post-Dispatch's Complete Daily Record of Markets and Finance

STOCKS REACT IN FINAL HOUR; MARKET ACTIVE

Price Changes Generally Fractional at the Close; Atchison Advances.

NEW YORK, June 18, 12:30 p. m.

Prices moved in an irregular way during the forenoon hours. Gains and losses were about equal.

Smelting declined ⅜, Lead ¼, Amalgamated Copper ½, North American ½ and Sugar 1 point. Colorado Fuel and Steel common gained ¼ each, Consolidated Gas ⅝ and Steel preferred 1. Anaconda was at parity. B. & O, Canadian Pacific, Rock Island common and D. & R. G. lost ¼ each, and Rock Island preferred ⅛. C. & O., St. Paul, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific gained ¼ each.

Reading advanced ⅝, Union Pacific and Wabash preferred ½ each, Atchison ⅝ and B. R. T. 1¼ points.

Erie and Great Northern were unchanged and Missouri Pacific was inactive.

Trading was about 40 per cent less than for the corresponding period Thursday, the total sales to noon amounting to oply 385,900 shares.

The market opened rather quietly today, after yesterday's strenuous trading. Prices were generally higher, but the changes were of an insignificant character. The divergence from the closing did not reach as much as a point, except in Canadian Pacific. In the industrials the U. S. Steel stocks were the only ones that opened with a loss, the common declining ¼, and the preferred ⅛. Smelting and Lead gained ⅛ each, Colorado Fuel and North American ¼ each, and Amalgamated Copper ⅛ point. Anaconda was at parity.

Reading and Union Pacific advanced ⅛ each, Rock Island common and Erie ¼ each, St. Paul and Northern Pacific ⅜ each, B. & O. ½, and New York Central ⅝. Canadian Pacific gained 1¼ points. Atchison and Wabash preferred were unchanged.

The feature of the early trading was N. Y. Central, which was very active. Nearly all the rail issues showed a rise in the first 15 minutes of business, but at the end of half an hour, a selling movement set in which sent prices fractionally below the opening.

The Harriman Pacifics, Great Northern and Erie declined ¼ each; Rock Island common and Atchison ⅛ each, Reading, Northern Pacific, N. Y. Central, St. Paul, Canadian Pacific and B. & O. ½ each. Reading was also quite active.

The Copper stocks developed much weakness. Smelting losing 1 and Amalgamated 1½ points. Steel common and preferred also declined. Outside of these issues trading was slow and price movements unimportant.

Americans in London were firm, being from ⅛ to ½ above parity.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING ON WALL STREET

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, June 18.—The opening trading in stocks today was rather quiet and the price changes small and showing mixed gains and losses. Running sales of 5000 shares of Steel were made at 66½ and 66¼, compared with the close of 66⅝ yesterday. New York Central rose 1 and Baltimore & Ohio, Wabash preferred and American Locomotive large fractions.

A brief drive against the market shook out enough stocks to put prices below yesterday's closing, but the losses were not important outside of Reading and the metal group. Buying to cover shorts restored the railroad list to last night's level again and much of the loss elsewhere was also retrieved. Reading, Denver & Rio Grande, Amalgamated Copper, Anaconda, American Sugar and United States Pipe preferred gave way 1, American Smelting 1⅜, International Harvester preferred 1½ and Sloss-Sheffield Steel 2. A few gains were scored, reaching a point in Pittsburg, C., C. & St. Louis and New York, Chicago & St. Louis, 1¼ in Canadian Pacific and 2 in American Agricultural Chemical preferred.

The upward trend of prices continued, but at a lessening pace. Trading fell very dull by noon. Union Bag preferred and Central Leather rose 2, American Hide and Leather preferred 1⅝ and United States Steel preferred, American Cotton Oil, Hocking Coal and American Beet Sugar 1. Toledo, St. Louis & Western and American Can preferred fell 1.

Bonds were irregular.

Increasing firmness developed as the day progressed, but there continued to be a dearth of interest in the market. Transactions were few and far between. Atchison was lifted 1⅝ and the Iowa Central stocks 1. General Electric declined 1½.

STOCK MARKET SIDELIGHTS.

The lambs were led to the slaughter at Thursday's session of the New York Stock Exchange. Several reasons were assigned for the break, among them being the uncertainty over the Paris listing of the Steel shares, the rumored firing on a British merchant ship by a Russian gunboat and the President's proposal to tax corporation earnings. All these served as good excuses undoubtedly, but the real reason was profit taking by the bulls. Stocks that were purchased a good many points below present prices were thrown on the market when the time appeared propitious, and the usual result happened.

* * *

Another reason assigned for the break was the failure of the Reading directors to increase the dividend at their meeting on Wednesday. This excuse seems almost ridiculous, and shows how easily timid holders are shaken out. There was no reasonable hope in the minds of well-informed traders that the Reading dividend would be increased.

* * *

Steel common was the market leader, and although it suffered a loss of about 3 points in the forenoon trading, its inherent strength was manifested at the close, when its decline amounted to only one-half point. The Steel stocks have always been difficult to dislodge.

* * *

The Copper stocks were about the weakest on the list. There was a logical reason for the decline in these issues. Copper metal both abroad and at home was depressed, and the influence of this was naturally reflected in the stocks. It was also rumored that the Rogers estate was liquidating. In addition to these there was heavy selling by London and Paris.

* * *

One of the noteworthy features of the market during the current week has been New York Central. Its fluctuations have been unusually rapid and extensive. Important developments may be expected in this stock in the very near future.

This week's setback in the market is merely one of those movements that occur periodically, being almost as regular as the phases of the moon.

The probabilities are that during the coming week the market will more than recover its losses, when another shake out will be in order.

CORPORATIONS REQUIRED TO PAY TAXES ON NET INCOMES

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Attorney-General Wickersham has drawn the amendment to the tarif bill, taxing corporations to carry out the the idea in the President's message. The question came up: "Does not the bill tax the small stockholder and exempt the bondholder, who, in the majority of corporations is the principal owner?"

The solution of the problem, from the administration point of view, is the term "net income of a corporation." Instead of "net earnings," or "net profit." There has always been in the courts and the business world a difference of opinion on what net earnings or net profits means. It has been maintained on one hand that the term means what is left, after operating expenses are paid, and on the other, that all fixed charges must be paid before there can be any net earnings.

It is out of net earnings that dividends on common stock must be paid. "Fixed charges" include interest on bonds and dividends on preferred stock, and maybe stretched to mean money set aside for improvements, and for the sinking fund. But the "net income" of a corporation, as interpreted by the President, Secretary Knox, Attorney-General Wickersham, Senator Root and Secretary Nagel, all lawyers of high standing, is all the money the corporations has made outside its operating expenses.

As it was explained by a member of the administration today, it is a common practice in the larger corporations to bond them to the full extent of the stock. As a rule, the originators of the corporation sell the stock to the public and take the bonds, thus becoming creditors of the corporation. The interest on the bonds and ultimately the bonds themselves, must be paid before the stockholder can profit.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The Chicago banks are preparing to meet the stiff requirements of the grain movement and are amplifying their reserves with a view to end. The current high prices of all cereals at this stock means larger shipments to the interior and increased requirements over years of normal prices. Commercial needs also are becoming more insistent. Four per cent is the average rate, with a distinct preference shown for 60 days and shorter periods.

LONDON, June 18.—Quotations for call money and discounts were unchanged throughout the day, and very little business was reported. The Indian Council was a lender of money into July at 1⅜ per cent. A small amount due to the Bank of England by the market was repaid.

TICKER TALK

NEW YORK June 18.—Alfred Mestre & Co. say: "Undoubtedly the technical position has been somewhat improved by the liquidation, but it is still too early to say that this has been entirely completed."

E. F. Hutton & Co. say: "Temporary adverse factors of a technical character have been instrumental in depressing values recently, with these matters adjusted we look for a resumption of the upward trend in stocks."

W. C. Langley & Co. say: "The distribution of stocks is apparently still in progress, and no demoralization of the market is anticipated."

H. L. Horton & Co. say: "We suggest the purchase of standard dividend-paying shares on any substantial declines."

J. S. Bache & Co. say: "We believe the market was supported by the very best interests, and while there may be a feverish, hesitating speculation for a short time, we believe that the market ultimatily will sell much higher."

At the close of the daily meeting of the Butter, Egg and Poultry Exchange, President Brockman called the attention of the members to the advantages of association with the Credit Clearing House, and advised all to join it. He stated that 21 members of the exchange had already done so.

TRADING QUIET AT 1ST SESSION OF STOCK MART

Railways Pfd. and the 4s Are Markedly Inactive; Laclede Gas Higher.

There was a lull in trading at the first session of the local stock exchange from the corresponding session Thursday. Railways preferred and Railways 4s were markedly inactive, and one transaction was recorded in Railways common. Laclede Gas common advanced a point. American Credit Indemnity was firm at par.

Mechanics'-American, Bank of Commerce, Mississippi Valley, St. Louis Union, Manchester, Southern Commercial, Chicago Railway Equipment and Hydraulic Press Brick preferred were ex-dividend.

Laclede Gas common was further advanced at the afternoon session, selling as high as 104½, as against 103 in the forenoon. One hundred four and a half was bid for it at the close, but it was held at half point higher.

East St. Louis News

C. H. Goeslein, a newsboy, 12 years old, was struck by an automobile owned by C. E. Gillen and driven by Philip Commache at Third street and Broadway, Thursday evening, and was cut on the head. He was taken to his home, 925 South Eleventh street.

The delegates from the National Stockyards to the National Convention of the Livestock Commission, to be held July 8, 9 and 10 at Denver, have been chosen. The East Side representatives will be President of the Exchange W. A. Moody, E. E. Overstreet, W. Long, W. W. Stewart, P. C. Sparks and J. F. Fry.

Mrs. Kate Drinning was granted a decree of divorce from John Drinning by Judge Moyers in the City Court Thursday and was allowed $500 allimony and the custody of their two children. The Drinnings were married July 30, 1891, and lived together until June 16, 1908.

The funeral of Mrs. Ora McMonigle, 24 years old, who died Thursday morning at her home, 713 North Tenth street, after a two days' illness following a congestive chill, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. to Mt. Carmel Cemetery. She is survived by her husband, Scott McMonigle, and a 3-year-old daughter. Her husband was at Okawville at the time of her death and did not know that his wife's illness was serious. He arrived in East St. Louis Thursday afternoon.

Old Sol is trying his best to run your ice bill way up. He can't do it if you have been to Rhodes-Burford's and bought one of their Polar refrigerators. Cash or credit if desired.

TAFT LEADS OFF IN NEW WARFARE ON SUGAR TRUST

Subpena Issued for Receiver Earle of Pennsylvania Refining Company.

AFTER MAN HIGHER UP

Evidence Spurned by Bonaparte Will Be Used by New Attorney-General.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 18.—That more trouble is in store for the Sugar Trust was indicated today, when subpenaes were issued for Receiver George H. Earle of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Co., his counsel and all the witnesses in the suit brought by him, to appear before the United States grand jury in New York.

The Government seeks to have the trust indicted for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act and it is understood that the case is set by the grand jury for Monday.

It is understood here that special representatives of the Government have access to Earle's evidence, presented as a result of the complications following the Earle estate trust failure, and were so impressed that all the facts collected by Receiver Earle are to be used in proceedings against the trust.

By this action Attorney-General Wickersham will bring suit against the trust on evidence that was coldly received and set aside by former Attorney-General Charles J. Bonaparte as insufficient and which evidence Wickersham's own firm sought to disprove while acting as attorney for the trust.

First Trust Busting by Taft.

What makes this proceeding the more notable is that it is the first trust prosecution started by the Government under the Taft administration.

It is plain that the Government intends to avail itself of the evidence which is now in the keeping of Receiver Earle. In the subpena issued to Joseph de F. Junkin, who was one of the counsel for Receiver Earle, the documents are enumerated which are to be produced before the grand jury.

In the suit brought by Receiver Earle in the United States Court, the trust made an offer of settlement of $2,000,000—of which $750,000 was to be in cash. This arrangement has yet to be approved by the court in Philadelphia which appointed Mr. Earle as receiver.

Suits Cost Trusts $4,000,000.

Should the trust now be indicted, this will be the third action that has recently borne heavily upon it. The first was the proceeding as the result of which it paid more than $2,000,000 for defrauding the Government by crooked weighing of sugar in the port of New York. The second was the Earle case in which $2,000,000 more was given up.

CABINET DECIDES IT IS BEST TO GO AFTER REAL MAGNATES

By Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—If the proper evidence can be produced before the grand jury in New York, there will be criminal prosecution against a man, or men, responsible financially and in a managerial way for the Sugar Trust.

The subject has been considered at a Cabinet session, and it is the unanimous opinion of the Cabinet, in which the President joins, that "the man higher up" is the man to go after.

It is an open secret in Washington that the President resents nothing so much as the statement that the employment or business of any of his brothers in any way can control his dealing with a public evil. In this case it has been intimated that because Henry W. Taft appeared as attorney for the Sugar Trust in its controversy with the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Co., President Taft would not interfere.

Attorney-General Wickersham is in much the same position. He was a member of the firm (before he became Attorney-General) that defended the Sugar Trust. It has been more than intimated that this fact would prevent Federal prosecution.

The President and the Attorney-General laid these facts frankly before the Cabinet. All the evidence available in the Department of Justice was submitted at the same time and on the order of the President, with the backing of the Attorney-General and the entire approval of the Cabinet, it was decided to go after the "man higher up."

This policy was announced to the prosecuting authorities in New York, and it is expected here that within a short time there will be indictments and arrests that will satisfy the country that this administration is not bound by personal, political or any undue influence.

WOMAN'S NOSE HURT AND HAT DISPLACED BY CROSSING GATE

Crossing the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks at the Tower Grove intersection, Thursday, in her automobile, Mrs. Herman Stoffregen of 3635 Flad avenue, and three women companions, had a narrow escape from being injured by a safety gate, lowered to guard the passing of a switch engine.

Arthur Marter, watchman at the grade crossing misjudged the speed of the gate's descent, and the big wooden barrier grazed the nose of Mrs. Stoffregen. She had to duck to avoid a violent collision. He hat was knocked off and her nose bruised.

The machine was in charge of Washley Gray, a negro chaffeur.

THE AEROPLANE GOWN

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED

SKIRTS CAN'T BE WORN WITH THE AEROPLANE GOWN

Latest Creation Opens Only in the Back and Fastens Closely With Hooks.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 18.

SPEAKING of evolution—have you seen the aeroplane gown? There is something very classy in the way of feminine toggery. It is really here, although up to the present date it has not been displayed in public by a live subject. It is, however, on exhibition in a Fifth avenue shop and has been regarded as the latest nine days' curiosity.

Why it should be considered so is rather strange. True, it is startling in its effect, but when one stops to consider, it is not, after all, such a very radical departure.

Remember the bloomer, the southern end of which was strapped at the ankle? Ever see the same thing in abbreviated form as sported by the athletic rah-rah girl? What of the divided skirt; what, in a measure, of the directoire and sheath and the real 45-70 caliber pantalon gown?

This latest aeroplane flight is merely the evolution of all these, or, it might be correct to say, the gown is a hybrid of them.

It looks at first glance like a walking skirt, but there's a secret; it is two walking skirts, or something. This is revealed the moment the wearer takes a step, and it just keeps right on being revealed every time she moves, either to walk, stoop or sit down.

It is intended for a street costume, for bowling, golfing, hunting and all manner of sports, as well as for comfort in the home.

The gown opens only in the back, on the left side, and fastens closely with hooks. There is not a button on it. The "trousers" are of sufficient length to reach the ankles, but are caught up below the knee and held there by rubber bands.

Only tights are to be worn under the gown, there being no place reserved for underskirts.

ATTACKED BY WIDOWED SNAKE

Bereaved Reptile Followed Ranchman Four Days.

MIDU ARTESIA, Cal., June 18.—M. R. McKinney, a rancher, yesterday killed a bull snake which he avers had been following him for four days, bent on avenging the death of its mate, which McKinney killed one day last week.

Yesterday McKinney started to drive to town and as he passed through a gate the snake glided out of a hedge and wrapped itself around one of the buggy wheels. As the wheel revolved, bringing the reptile to a level with the seat it struck at the rancher. It did this four times before McKinney got in a fatal blow.
